HOSPITAL CLEANUP — Inclement weather halted final activities of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce's PickUp, Clean

Grayson Sees Customer Refunds

Huge Price Rollbacks Set

NEW YORK (AP) — The Price Commission will order hundreds of millions of dollars in price rollbacks and customer refunds in the next few weeks, its chairman announced today.

Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the reason is that the commission's limit on profit margins is beginning to take hold as a second line of defense against inflation.

Grayson, speaking of the matter publicly for the first time in remarks for the annual meeting of The Associated Press, said he hopes the announcement will help rally public opinion behind controls.

"In a very few words I would like to inform you that beginning late last week, the Price Commission inaugurated a series of major actions which will result in hundreds of millions of dollars of price reductions, which will roll back current prices of some of the country's largest companies to their base-period levels."

Meanwhile, Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Council, told automobile manufacturers not to expect approval of large price increases.

In a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit, Rumsfeld said steel companies' hold-the-price-line pledge "is a significant step in the effort to reduce inflation, a step which should be reflected in the prices of 1973 model cars ..."

Grayson explained that the rollbacks and customer refunds will result from orders based on a Commission ruling that has attracted little public notice.

This rule, in addition to the commission's basic dictate that any price hikes must be justified by cost increases, says that price increases cannot be so large as to raise the profit portion of each sales dollar above the average for the best two of the past three years.

Grayson said now that large companies—those with more than $50 million in yearly sales—are beginning to file required quarterly reports, this profit-margin rule is starting to have effect.

Recently, the Price Commission ordered two firms to roll back prices because of inflated profits. Grayson has said that based on first reports, perhaps 10 per cent of America's large businesses would be required to roll back prices for this reason. His announcement today that the rollbacks would amount to hundreds of millions was his first such statement.

He noted that in past months the commission has been accused by its critics of being ineffective or pro-business.

"As what I've outlined here today may indicate, we are not pro-business," he said. "Nor are we antibusiness, either. We're simply, and implacably, anti-inflation."

Reds Smash Defenses At Kontum

SAIGON (AP) — A North Vietnamese division crushed the northern defenses of Kontum City in the central highlands today, driving the South Vietnamese into retreat. Air and sea battles erupted deep inside North Vietnam, in the Gulf of Tonkin and the Gulf of Siam.

The North Vietnamese 2nd Division, spearheaded by more than 20 tanks, rolled southward across Highway 14 through Tan Canh and Dak To, the anchor of South Vietnamese defenses guarding the highlands provincial capital of Kontum City, said to be the ultimate objective of the enemy's 26-day-old offensive.

A radio message was sent out to the scattered and badly battered South Vietnamese 22nd Infantry Division, which had its forward command post at Tan Canh and a regimental command post at Dak To, to pull back to a new defensive line at Vo Dinh on Highway 14. This is about 15 miles south of Tan Canh and about 10 miles north of Kontum. Other lesser bases and towns crumbled in the path of the North Vietnamese onslaught.

In the air war, the U.S. Command said, about 10 surface-to-air missiles were fired at B52 strategic bombers raiding North Vietnam. One of the bombers sustained what the command termed "minor battle damage."

A U.S. helicopter was shot down near Dak To, north of Kontum, and the four crewmen were killed. It was the 22nd American helicopter lost since the offensive began, the U.S. Command said. Seventeen planes also have been lost, and total air crew casualties are 25 American killed, eight wounded and 35 missing, the command said.

The United States sent its big B52 bombers to within 80 miles of Hanoi to attack supply depots, railroads, highways and marshalling yards at the big coastal city of Thanh Hoa.

Robert Liggett, 131 W. Union St., was named one of five "Outstanding Young Men" in the state by Ohio Jaycees Saturday.

Dr. Liggett, 32, is an optometrist. A member of the local Jaycees, he was named for his community achievements. He was recently elected to Circleville School Board.

Active in the Pickaway County Community Fund Campaign, the past five years, he is a past campaign chairman.

He was also chairman of a campaign to pass the Pickaway-Ross-Hocking Joint Vocational School bond and operating levies and was instrumental in the original fund-raising campaign to finance a Pickaway County airport.

HE is a past president of the local chapter, a past state vice president, state chairman of the Health Committee, national director of Region Fur and a Jaycee International Senator.

Dr. Liggett is a member of the Circleville BPO Elks Lodge, and Kiwanis Club.

TB Vans Dangerous?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government wants states to take their chest X-ray vans off the roads because it says the risk of overexposure to radiation is greater than the benefits of finding a few cases of tuberculosis.

Dr. Merlin K. DuVal, assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, said in a statement Sunday: "The use of mobile equipment, which requires relatively higher levels of X-ray exposure than fixed equipment, simply cannot be justified."

TB "is now almost nonexistent in many regions of the country," he added, and the government recommends using skin tests to check for the disease and X-rays only for people with positive skin tests on in high-risk groups.

The Food and Drug Administration, which prepared the policy statement, said fewer than 28 states still use the mobile X-ray vans.

The government said the number of new TB cases in the nation dropped from about 64,000 in 1958 to 39,000 in 1969, and mass screening programs turn up active tuberculosis in fewer than 1-20 of 1 per cent of the people tested.

Reunited Apollo Crew Schedules Journey Home

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 16's explorers fire out of lunar orbit tonight to start the long journey home with a treasure ship of rocks that scientists believe will prove the moon long ago was wracked by volcanoes.

The major finds came Sunday, on the third moon drive that almost was canceled because Mission Control felt the astronauts might be tired and pressed for time as a result of their late landing Thursday night.

They return with 245 pounds of materials which represent perhaps the oldest and most significant samples yet collected on the lunar surface. Locked inside are secrets of how the moon was born more than four billion years ago.

Geologists are certain that John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly got everything they sought during man's fifth moon landing mission, primarily the volcanic evidence.

The astronauts trigger the command ship Casper's big engine at 9:16 p.m. tonight to begin the 66-hour, 240,000-mile voyage back to earth. Splashdown is scheduled Thursday in the Pacific Ocean.

The three astronauts were reunited Sunday night after Young and Duke blasted off the moon in the cabin section of the lunar ship Orion and skillfully maneuvered it to a linkup two hours later with Mattingly in Casper.

"What a ride! What a ride!" Duke shouted as Orion blasted away from the mountainous Descartes plateau at 8:36 p.m., EST ending a 71-hour surface expedition during which the moonmen set records for the amount of rocks collected, time on the surface and speed traveled by their classy moon buggy.

The two ships maneuvered around one another as Mattingly took pictures of the effects of the liftoff on Orion's thin skin, then they gingerly moved together nose-to-nose.

"I believe we got everything we went for," said Dr. Tony England, a scientist-astronaut who was capsule communicator during much of the flight.

"It was an outstanding success—really crowning achievement for the Apollo 16 crew," said flight controller Pete Franks.

The main goal was to find volcanic evidence as they drove their moon car over the Descartes plateau and on and around Stone Mountain. Experts here believe that evidence is tucked away in the carefully documented sample bags the astronauts are bringing home.

Britain Wins, Pompidou Hurt By Referendum

Small Turnout Bolsters Hopes Of Opposition

PARIS (AP) — Frenchmen voting in a politically-freighted referendum Sunday welcomed Britain into the Common Market, but the reduced turnout raised opposition hopes of cutting sharply into the Gaullist majority in the National Assembly elections next year.

Interior Minister Raymond Marcellin announced that 39.64 per cent of the 29,312,637 registered voters stayed away from the polls Sunday, 36.17 per cent favored the enlargement of the West European trade bloc, 17.12 per cent voted no, and 7.07 per cent cast blank ballots.

The yes-no vote was 10,601,645 to 5,020,683.

By comparison, abstentions on the referendum in which former French President Charles de Gaulle once appealed to the voters ran about 20 per cent.

The pro-Market Socialists, who had called for abstention as a repudiation of President Georges Pompidou, and the Communists, who advocated a no vote, were jubilant over the outcome.

Officially, the referendum asked approval of the treaty admitting Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark into the European Economic Community, now made up of France, West

Mental Illness In America Widespread, Medic Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Citing government statistics, a National Institute of Mental Health psychologist said today there is growing evidence that "almost no family in the nation is entirely free of mental disorders."

And, Dr. David Rosenthal suggested that the incidence of mental disorders may figure prominently among the causes of the country's social turbulence and disorders, including crime and racial unrest.

Based on a 1967 institute survey, which Rosenthal said contains the latest figures, he concluded possibly 60 million Americans are borderline schizophrenics or exhibit other deviant mental behavior in the schizophrenic category.

"Indeed," Rosenthal said in a report to the National Academy of Sciences, "it may very well be that the so-called 'normal' person, with respect to mental health, does not represent a norm at all, but rather an ideal — relatively rare — that most of us would like to achieve."

Rosenthal said there are more than 1.75 million schizophrenic or potentially schizophrenic persons walking the streets besides at least 500,000 in hospitals. Schizophrenia, one of the major mental illnesses, includes a tendency to withdraw from reality and often involves hallucinations and delusions.

In his report, prepared for the academy's annual meeting, Rosenthal said there's growing evidence that hereditary factors may play a role in causing at least some forms of mental illness.

He declared that fuller acceptance of that idea by scientists might ultimately lead to better means of controlling mental illness, with the benefits going to society in general.

GOP Awaits Miami Beach Meeting Bid

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., says the Republican party wants to switch its national convention from San Diego, Calif., to Miami Beach.

He added that it is up to the Miami Beach City Council to decide whether it wants to have the GOP parley here.

Gurney's statement Sunday followed a weekend meeting between Republican officials and Gov. Reubin Askew, a Democrat, who is supporting a switch.

Sen. Robert Dole, the national chairman of the GOP, was in Miami over the weekend, then went to Puerto Rico on Sunday. He was expected back here today and some observers said he might announce the move on his return.

A major stumbling block is the convention date.

Republican leaders have said they want to stick to Aug. 21-24 to satisfy party rules concerning the time requirements between state conventions and the national conclave.

But Mayor Chuck Hall of Miami Beach has said the city could host the convention Aug. 19.

A relief driver, Lonnie Hodge, 39, of Collinsville, Va., was treated for a bruised shoulder, the patrol said.

A U.S. helicopter was shot down near Dak To, north of Kontum, and the four crewmen were killed. It was the 22nd American helicopter lost since the offensive began, the U.S. Command said. Seventeen planes also have been lost, and total air crew casualties are 25 Americans killed, eight wounded and 35 missing, the command said.

The United States sent its big B52 bombers to within 80 miles of Hanoi to attack supply depots, railroads, highways and marshalling yards at the big coastal city of Thanh Hoa.

For the first time in the war, one of the giant bombers was reported hit over the North, by fragments from a surface-to-air missile, but it returned safely to Da Nang with 30 holes in its fuselage and a ruptured fuel tank. There were no casualties among the six crewmen.

Another American plane, an Air Force F4 Phantom fighter-bomber, was shot down near Dong Hoi, 45 miles above the demilitarized zone, and the two crewmen were pulled from the Tonkin Gulf by a Navy helicopter.

Two U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers were hit by shore fire. No casualties were reported.

Nine Americans were wounded and three buildings were damaged by a 13-round rocket barrage against the Da Nang Air Base, the biggest in South Vietnam from which raids are flown against North Vietnam.

Navy Cost Overruns Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government studies show that construction of two nuclear-powered aircraft carriers and modernization of 20 guided-missile frigates are costing much more than original Navy estimates.

Sen. William Proxmire and Rep. Les Aspin, both D-Wis., released separate studies on the projects Sunday and said the programs may not do the jobs their supporters said they would.

Proxmire said a study by the General Accounting Office shows the projected cost of building the two carriers has risen from an original planning estimate of $946.5 million to $1.78 billion, an 88-per-cent increase.

The study indicates, Proxmire said, "that we may have two highly destructible billion-dollar landing fields already on their way, along with 300 $16-million F14 fighter planes to use them."

Aspin, who released the GAO congressional watchdog agency's report on the frigate modernization program, said the Navy's cost estimate on the project had risen from $692 million in 1967 to $1 billion last June 30, a 45 per cent increase.

Ohio Primary A 'Horse Race'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's May 2 primary will be "a real horse race" between Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa says.

"Ohio is going to be a key state," Hughes said Sunday. He announced last summer he was not a Democratic presidential contender, then threw his support behind Muskie.

Ohio's "is the last major primary prior to the California primary," said Hughes. "It can either give or deny the impetus needed to get the delegates."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee appears ready to approve legislation to deal with nationwide emergency strikes, but final Congressional action probably won't come this session.

Earlier in this Congress it seemed doubtful that committee, dominated by liberals, would approve any such legislation.

But the increasing annoyance of having to deal on a case-by-case basis with emergency strikes has changed the picture.

Last year Congress had to pass legislation to head off a nationwide rail shutdown. Early in this session it was called on to settle the West Coast dock strike.

The dock tieup particularly brought new support for establishment of some system to deal with emergency strikes on a permanent basis. This backing came from farm-state senators who saw their farmers suffering big losses as export shipments were blocked.

When the dock-strike legislation was before the Senate in February, Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore., sought to attach a permanent national emergency-strike provision as an amendment.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams, Jr., D-N.J., the Labor Committee chairman, and Democratic leaders were able to beat the provision by only three votes

Area Students Lose Bid For State Spelling Title

Pickaway County and Circleville City's entrants in the State Spelling Bee both failed to be graded in the top one-third of the 77 competitors in Columbus Saturday.

Patty Trax, a student at George McDowell Exchange School in the Logan Elm District and Joe Leahy, a sixth grader from Atwater Elementary, lost their bids for the state title in the preliminary written spelling match held at the Neil House Hotel.

A Columbus Academy eighth grade student, Bill Millard, took the prize and won a trip to Washington D. C. where he will represent Columbus in the National contest.

It was Bill's fourth time in the spelling bee, sponsored annually by the Citizen-Journal. He took fourth place last year.

Patty and Joe, the local representatives, found the written examination extremely difficult. Only 27 of the original number were permitted to advance to the oral spello-down — and some of them had scored on only 50 per cent of the words given. Patty, however, noted that she had come close to earning a spot in the finals.

According to Donald Metzler, city elementary supervisor who accompanied Joe to the contest, the 1971 state winner was again in the competition this year and he failed to make the final spello-down rank.

Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Leahy, Mapleview Lane. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Trax, Route 4, are the parents of the county spelling champ.

Route 22 Site Of 2 Accidents

Highway Patrolmen are presently seeking the identity of the driver of a vehicle which reportedly was responsible for a two car collision Saturday afternoon on Route 22-east.

The accident occurred when cars driven by Robert E. Corne Jr., 21, and Inez L. Iser, 46, both of Lancaster, collided on Route 22 near the Bolender-Pontious Road at 1:55 p.m.

Investigating officer Charles Cotton indicated that the unknown vehicle was westbound on the highway, passing another vehicle when Corne approached in the same eastbound lane. Corne claimed he was forced off the roadway and lost control. His vehicle returned to the pavement and swerved into the westbound lane in the path of the Iser auto. The crash caused visible, though apparently not serious injuries to Corne. He was not treated.

The unknown vehicle continued on, but officers were given a partial license number and believe the driver will be found soon to complete the investigation.

While Ptl. Cotton was at the scene of the first crash, two other cars were involved in an accident at the same site.

At 3:41 p.m. three westbound autos entered the area of the first accident and the first two reduced speed. Driver of the third vehicle, 17-year-old Beverly J. Parker of Route 1, Amanda, failed to slow and struck the rear of a car operated by Elizabeth J. Calton, 32, of Route 4.

Mrs. Calton and a passenger, Florence M. Calton, Route 5, both claimed injuries and drove to Berger Hospital where they were both treated for cervical strain and Florence for an abrasion to a finger.

The 17-year-old was cited by the Highway Patrol for assured clear distance.

Dismiss Jury As Defendant Enters Plea

A jury of 13 members was seated Monday to hear testimony involving a burglary of the A & P store, but the defendant, Roger Arledge, entered a guilty plea to the charge after only two witnesses were examined by the attorneys.

Jurors heard testimony from Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown and the store manager, Howard Richmond, about the burglary during which cigarettes and alcoholic beverages were stolen. Both reported that entry was made by breaking the glass panel on a front door.

Seated this morning in the brief trial were jurors: Velma B. Collins, Dorothy M. Court-right, Edwin R. Hott, Lester Hupp, Mabel Archer, James L. Siniff, Marjorie Hedges, Carolyn J. Scott, Gary L. Fortner, Patricia A. Bevin, Elliott H. Hawkes, Robert M. Knecht and alternate Pauline Cook.

Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

There was no endangering opposition to British membership in the market. But Pompidou, in two radio-television addresses, claimed he needed overwhelming endorsement of the treaty to strengthen his hand in future negotiations to widen the trade bloc's operations into political and monetary fields.

The president's opponents charged he was trying to build up his image, not for purposes of negotiating abroad but to strengthen his position at home.

But Pompidou failed to arouse enthusiasm among the voters, who are traditionally apathetic toward foreign policy questions. And although he campaigned personally, he did not threaten to resign as De Gaulle did in the five referenda he staged.

Man Fined $200 For DWI, Speeding By Judge Lamb

Thomas L. Gries, an airman at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Municipal Court Monday Columbus, appeared in morning to answer charges filed by the Ohio State Highway Patrol accusing him of speeding 105 miles per hour in a 60 zone and driving while intoxicated.

Patrol Lieutenant Wayne Henry read an affidavit that accused Gries of driving a car that sped through a red light at Routes 23 and 665 2:39 p.m. Sunday.

The affidavit noted that Gries was traveling at an excessive rate of speed. He was clocked with radar at a speed of 105 miles per hour traveling south on Route 23 in a rain storm. The arresting officer had to drive in excess of 125 miles per hour to pull Gries to the side of Route 23 at Shepard Road.

Gries submitted to a breathalyzer examination for alcohol content in his blood stream and tested .18. The court considers .10 as intoxicated.

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb fined him $50 and costs for speeding and $150 and costs for driving while intoxicated.

Lamb also suspended his driving privileges for six months and sentenced him to 30 days in the Pickaway County jail.

When Gries told the court he could pay his entire fine in cash, Lamb suspended 25 days of his jail term and allowed him to choose the remaining five days he was required to spend in jail.

Area Students Lose Bid For State Spelling Title

Pickaway County and Circleville City's entrants in the State Spelling Bee both failed to be graded in the top one-third of the 77 competitors in Columbus Saturday.

Patty Trax, a student at George McDowell Exchange School in the Logan Elm District and Joe Leahy, a sixth grader from Atwater Elementary, lost their bids for the state title in the preliminary written spelling match held at the Neil House Hotel.

A Columbus Academy eighth grade student, Bill Millard, took the prize and won a trip to Washington D. C. where he will represent Columbus in the National contest.

It was Bill's fourth time in the spelling bee, sponsored annually by the Citizen-Journal. He took fourth place last year.

Patty and Joe, the local representatives, found the written examination extremely difficult. Only 27 of the original number were permitted to advance to the oral speldown — and some of them had scored on only 50 per cent of the words given. Patty, however, noted that she had come close to earning a spot in the finals.

According to Donald Metzler, city elementary supervisor who accompanied Joe to the contest, the 1971 state winner was again in the competition this year and he failed to make the final speldown rank.

Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Leahy, Mapleview Lane. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Trax, Route 4, are the parents of the county spelling champ.

Route 22 Site Of 2 Accidents

Highway Patrolmen are presently seeking the identity of the driver of a vehicle which reportedly was responsible for a two car collision Saturday afternoon on Route 22-east.

The accident occurred when cars driven by Robert E. Corne Jr., 21, and Inez L. Iser, 46, both of Lancaster, collided on Route 22 near the Bolender-Pontious Road at 1:55 p.m.

Investigating officer Charles Cotton indicated that the unknown vehicle was westbound on the highway, passing another vehicle when Corne approached in the same eastbound lane. Corne claimed he was forced off the roadway and lost control. His vehicle returned to the pavement and swerved into the westbound lane in the path of the Iser auto. The crash caused visible, though apparently not serious injuries to Corne. He was not treated.

The unknown vehicle continued on, but officers were given a partial license number and believe the driver will be found soon to complete the investigation.

While Ptl. Cotton was at the scene of the first crash, two other cars were involved in an accident at the same site.

At 3:41 p.m. three westbound autos entered the area of the first accident and the first two reduced speed. Driver of the third vehicle, 17-year-old Beverly J. Parker of Route 1, Amanda, failed to slow and struck the rear of a car operated by Elizabeth J. Calton, 32, of Route 4.

Mrs. Calton and a passenger, Florence M. Calton, Route 5, both claimed injuries and drove to Berger Hospital where they were both treated for cervical strain and Florence for an abrasion to a finger.

The 17-year-old was cited by the Highway Patrol for assured clear distance.

Man Crashes Into Car, Cited For DWI

Deputy Don Thompson charged 23-year-old Rodney L. Horne of Columbus with failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead and driving while intoxicated after he drove into the rear of a car carrying two adults and two children 4 p.m. Saturday at the Circleville - Lockbourne Road and Route 755.

Thompson said a car driven by Richard G. Johnson, 25, Lockbourne Air Force Base, was stopped for a red light on the Circleville - Lockbourne Road when Horne apparently drove into the rear of his car.

Passengers in Johnson's car included Corazon D. Johnson, 26; Lascia Johnson, 6; and Carol J. Johnson, 13 months.

Mary Onie, 21, Columbus, was a passenger in Horne's auto.

Two people were injured 1 a.m. Sunday when a car driven by James F. Duvall, 36, 106½ E. Franklin St., went out of control on the Circleville - Commercial Point Road just east of the Circleville - Florence Chapel Road, and broke off a telephone pole.

Duvall complained of neck injuries after the crash and his wife, Martha Duvall, was treated for a slight forehead cut.

Deputy Earl Kuhn, who charged Duvall with reckless operation, said his car apparently left the right berm of the road and traveled 81 feet in a drainage ditch before striking the telephone pole.

Man Fined $200 For DWI, Speeding By Judge Lamb

Thomas L. Gries, an airman at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Municipal Court Monday morning to answer charges filed by the Ohio State Highway Patrol accusing him of speeding 105 miles per hour in a 60 zone and driving while intoxicated.

Patrol Lieutenant Wayne Henry read an affidavit that accused Gries of driving a car that sped through a red light at Routes 23 and 665 2:39 p.m. Sunday.

The affidavit noted that Gries was traveling at an excessive rate of speed. He was clocked with radar at a speed of 105 miles per hour traveling south on Route 23 in a rain storm. The arresting officer had to drive in excess of 125 miles per hour to pull Gries to the side of Route 23 at Shepard Road.

Gries submitted to a breathalyzer examination for alcohol content in his blood stream and tested .18. The court considers .10 as intoxicated.

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb fined him $50 and costs for speeding and $150 and costs for driving while intoxicated.

Lamb also suspended his driving privileges for six months and sentenced him to 30 days in the Pickaway County jail.

When Gries told the court he could pay his entire fine in cash, Lamb suspended 25 days of his jail term and allowed him to choose the remaining five days he was required to spend in jail.

He picked three consecutive weekends.

In other court cases, Albert Schultze, 32, 444 Clinton St., pled not guilty to the charge of taking indecent liberties with a 14-year-old girl. Attorney Richard L. Gerhardt, represented Schultze.

Lamb set preliminary hearing for May 25.

Gerhardt then moved that bond be reduced "drastically" from $8,000 set Saturday.

But instead of reducing the bond, Lamb changed the date of the hearing to May 4, cutting down the time Schultze would have to spend in jail.

In Friday court cases, Shirley Knece, 44, Route 4, was fined $5 and costs for passing on a double yellow line.

Roger L. Burggraf, 31, Route 1, Stoutsville, forfeited $29 bond for speeding 80 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

Marion C. Long, 19, 504 S. Court St., forfeited $60 bond for reckless operation.

Harold Becker, 41, Route 1, Ashville, forfeited $24 bond for following another car too closely.

John R. Brayshaw, 44, Williamsport, forfeited $24 bond for speeding 72 miles per hour in a 60 zone.

John A. Cook, 21, 71 Bolens Ave., forfeited $24 bond for failing to display a valid registration.

Alan M. Shull, 25, 458 E. Main St., forfeited $19 bond for parking on the roadway.

Roger L. Shelpman, 19, 364 E. Franklin St., forfeited $24 bond for speeding 50 miles per hour in a 35 zone.

Glenore J. Valentine, 24, 460 E. Ohio St., forfeited $19 bond for speeding 45 miles per hour in a 35 zone.

Neal E. Locklear, 32, Chillicothe, was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 3 days in the county jail and had his driving privileges suspended for 6 months for driving while intoxicated.

James R. Hunt, 20, Route 1, Kingston, pleaded guilty in preliminary hearing to breaking and entering the Elmwood Elevator of Pickaway Grain and was bound to the grand jury under $5,000 bond.

Environmental Report

By HUGH BARNHILL

Pickaway County Health Department

It is springtime again and everyone is ready for picnics. However, there are certain precautions to be taken into consideration concerning the preparing and subsequent storage of foods before the picnic.

It would put a damper on any social occasion if many of the people enjoying the event became violently ill.

To emphasize the importance of good food handling on picnics, the following fact is enough: Nearly 60 per cent of the food poisoning in the United States is as a result of picnics, or other similar social dinners.

Nearly everyone of us is the victim of food poisoning of some sort each year.

At these dinners, foods are usually eaten which have been prepared in advance at home and stored at temperatures above 50 degrees and are subsequently served with little or no heating. Under these conditions staphylococcus and salmonella bacteria usually cause the trouble.

Staphylococcus intoxication is a poisoning, that is, the bacteria produce a substance called enterotoxin that is stable at boiling temperatures. Boiling for three hours will neutralize the enterotoxin.

Consumption of this enterotoxin in sufficient quantities will produce nausea, vomiting and sometimes severe diarrhea within usually two to four hours. Staphylococcus are of human origin and enter the food from the hands of persons with any skin infections.

Reported poisoned foods include such things as custards, cream filled cakes, processed meats, poultry, salads and milk.

Prevention of staphylococcus intoxication includes the prompt refrigeration of foods to prevent the multiplication of any staph organisms which may have been introduced. Foods should be kept at 50 degrees or less, until just before eaten.

Salmonella bacteria is the other major source of food poisoning. Consumption causes an infection, not a poisoning. Symptoms usually occur within 12 to 24 hours and include abdominal pain, diarrhea, chills, fever, frequent vomiting and prostration. Deaths are uncommon but are more frequent than in the case of staph poisoning.

Salmonella are killed by heating for 15 minutes at 150 degrees. Outbreaks are usually traced to insufficiently cooked foods — too low a temperature or too short duration, in sufficiently prepared foods containing dried eggs, food prepared by an infected food handler, protection of food from cockroaches and rodents, foods kept above 50 degrees or below 140 degrees F. for sufficient period to allow bacteria to multiply.

Preventive measures include proper refrigeration to prevent the organism from multiplying, 45 degrees or less, proper cooking of foods from animal sources, meat, poultry, etc.

In general, to prevent any possibility of "food poisoning".

Social Workers Attend Confab

Mrs. Martha Seibel social worker, and Mrs. Waneta Norman, supervisor, of the Pickaway County Welfare Department attended the seminar sponsored by the Ohio Citizens Council which was held in Columbus on April 18.

Speaking at the morning forum on "What is Next for Public Welfare in Ohio" was John E. Hansen, Director, Ohio Department of Public Welfare. Many innovative ideas were presented by the Director in his challenge of the future direction of welfare.

In the afternoon session Dr. James A. Bax, Commissioner, Community Services Administration, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare chose as his subject "The Development of Social Services through Federal Funding." Special emphasis by Director Hansen has been placed on obtaining a greater share of federal funds for the State to implement services.

Scioto Society Fund Drive Kick-Off Set

Scioto Society Trustees wish to remind solicitors and interested citizens of the Kick-off meeting on Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in the Junior High School auditorium.

A member of the Executive Committee will give instruction in solicitation as well as the latest information concerning the construction of the Sugar Loaf amphitheatre.

The public is invited to attend.

cook all foods just prior to consumption maintain these foods at a minimum of 140 degrees F. until served.

Keep all perishables such as milk, potato salads, dairy products, etc. at 450 degrees F. or less until served. Bacteria grow very rapidly between temperatures of 55 degrees F. to 135 degrees F.

Applying these simple sanitary practices may prevent the wholly unnecessary food poisonings that occur everyday at picnics, social events and at home. Proper food handling is important to the health of us all and it deserves our full attention. Often though, it is taken for granted and more often than you realize, someone gets very ill.

Pennsylvania ..

tion, cautioned his Massachusetts supporters against paying too much attention to a new poll by the Boston Globe.

The poll published Sunday gave McGovern 43 per cent, Muskie 19 per cent, almost a complete reversal of a poll published Feb. 13. The latest poll was a continuation of a trend registered in a sampling a week earlier that gave McGovern 38 per cent and Muskie 27 per cent.

Speaking to a Knights of Columbus breakfast in Medford, near Boston, McGovern said he hopes to show that his appeal has spread from the suburbs and campuses to working class areas.

Muskie, abruptly canceling a last-minute campaign trip in Massachusetts where some of his supporters are privately conceding defeat, received enthusiastic receptions in Polish-American parts of northeastern Pennsylvania before returning to Philadelphia for appearances at Polish, Jewish and black gatherings.

Muskie's television speech, taped Saturday morning, was carried in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Sunday night and was scheduled for showing, in part or in full, on some two dozen stations in all major Pennsylvania cities today.

The Maine Democrat said a vote for him Tuesday would be a vote to freeze food prices, change America and reform taxes.

"This is the first round in the fight to move President Nixon out of the White House," Muskie said. "This is the first round in our fight for economic justice."

Humphrey's victory prediction came in an appearance Sunday on the CBS-TV program "Face the Nation," broadcast from Pittsburgh.

"I'm going to win this one," the Minnesota senator predicted. But he hedged on his chances of taking a majority of the 137 delegates, saying, "I think we can get a plurality." McGovern has predicted he will win a majority of the 239 delegates to be picked in the two states Tuesday.

Humphrey said he would back McGovern or any other "good Democrat" chosen to head the party's ticket. He said he does not consider Wallace to be a card-carrying Democrat.

Wallace spent Saturday in Pennsylvania, addressing more than 5,000 in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena in his only major appearance in the state. Jackson has not campaigned here, preferring to get a head start on the May 2 Ohio primary.

Circleville Seniors To Present Moliere's 'Le Malade Imaginaire'

By CRAIG ALLISON
Senior Play Publicity Committee

As graduation rapidly approaches, some seniors in area high schools feel a need to express themselves once more before they become alumni.

In many schools, the class play is still a favorite way to release this expression. At Circleville High School, Friday and Saturday, a group of 21 seniors will express themselves theatrically for the last time.

Under the direction of Will Dunkle, speech and drama instructor at Circleville High School, a cast of ten characters and a troupe of 11 dancers will perform their version of "Le Malade Imaginaire," by Moliere.

"Le Malade Imaginaire" is a seventeenth century French

comedy, whose English translation reads "The Imaginary Invalid." It involves a very rich French nobleman who imagines himself almost constantly ill. But his maid, servants, and his private doctor and the doctor's son all pool their efforts and manage to help the poor wretch overcome his psychological condition. The comedy comes from the technique the rest of the cast uses to help the hypochondriac nobleman.

THE part of the imaginary invalid, Monsieur Ardin, is played by Mike Missler. His moans and groans would cause one to think any moment will be his last on earth. But with the help of the other members of the cast, he manages to struggle through.

Heading the list of characters in the play is Toinette, the maid, played by Debbie Walters. Ardin's family is composed of Beline, his wife, who is played by Brenda Delong. Ardin has a brother who figures heavily in the action of the play. His name is Beralde, and the part is cast by Dave Winner. Ardin is the father of two lovely daughters, Louise, his youngest, and Angelique, his eldest. Chris Estrom will portray Louise, and Sherry Bumgarner will take the part of Angelique.

Angelique has a lover, to add to the comedy of the evening. The lover is Cleante, and Kirk Brown will be reading those lines. Lines of wit are added sporadically by Andy Hoffman, who plays the part of the notary public, Monsieur de Bonnefoi.

The majority of the humor is delivered by a father-son combination. Dr. Diaforus, played by Gary Scherer, and his son Thomas Diaforus, played by Rick Sabine, roll the audience with a combination of stage movements and one-liners. Scherer and Sabine play double roles in the play, Scherer playing Dr. Purjon, and Sabine playing a pharmacist named Monsieur Fleurante.

A major part of the plot is the fact that Ardin wants his eldest daughter to marry the thick-headed Thomas Diaforus, who manages to follow his thick-headed father and become a doctor. However, Angelique wants to marry the dashing Cleante, and everyone in the cast knows this, everyone except Monsieur Ardin that is.

In the end, however, the rest of the cast convinces Ardin that Cleante is the best choice for the lovely Angelique, and they also cure him of his miserable condition.

The curtain will go up at 8 p.m. each evening. Tickets for the play are on sale from any cast member, at Circleville High School, or by calling Circleville at 474-2222, or 474-7416.

Reenlistment Opportunities Announced By Recruiters

Thousands of Army veterans who want to return to duty with the Regular Army can now do so with a change in enlistment rules just announced by the Department of the Army, the Circleville recruiting office said today.

With its strength decreasing as a result of small commitments in Vietnam, the Army had been forced to restrict enlistment of some former soldiers who did not meet grade and skill vacancies. The few openings which did exist were held for those who had training in highly critical career fields, according to Sgt. Jim Neal, local army recruiter.

Now the Army will return to standards similar to those which had been in effect before July, 1969. The change was effective on March 1 and will apply to several categories of former servicemen.

In the first category are former members of the Army who had six or less years service and who had been discharged in pay grades E-4 to E-6. These individuals may return to the Regular Army in their former pay grades if they re-enlist within three months of their date of separation and if the Army has a vacancy for someone with their combination of skill and pay grade. After separation of more than three months, the grade in which they may return will be determined by the Army.

The second category of prior service people includes those who were discharged as sergeants first class, master sergeant, sergeant major, and all other individuals who have served over six years. These individuals may not return before they have been separated from service for three months. They may then be accepted at a grade to be determined by the Army. The same requirement for a vacancy within the Army also applies to this category of former servicemen.

The third category concerns those who were discharged in pay grades E-4 to E-9 for whom no vacancies exist in their former skills and pay grades.

These individuals will be given the opportunity to enlist in pay grade E-3. In consideration of the strict standards applied to former members of the Army, individuals who have served in other branches of the armed services are also subject to the same rule. They also can re-enlist only in pay grade E-3.

The Army recruiting office for Pickaway County is located at 116 E. Main St.

It is springtime again and everyone is ready for picnics. However, there are certain precautions to be taken into consideration concerning the preparing and subsequent storage of foods before the picnic.

It would put a damper on any social occasion if many of the people enjoying the event became violently ill.

To emphasize the importance of good food handling on picnics, the following fact is enough: Nearly 60 per cent of the food poisoning in the United States is as a result of picnics, or other similar social dinners.

Nearly everyone of us is the victim of food poisoning of some sort each year.

At these dinners, foods are usually eaten which have been prepared in advance at home and stored at temperatures above 50 degrees and are subsequently served with little or no heating. Under these conditions staphylococcus and salmonella bacteria usually cause the trouble.

Staphylococcus intoxication is a poisoning, that is, the bacteria produce a substance called enterotoxin that is stable at boiling temperatures. Boiling for three hours will neutralize the enterotoxin.

Consumption of this enterotoxin in sufficient quantities will produce nausea, vomiting and sometimes severe diarrhea within usually two to four hours. Staphylococcus are of human origin and enter the food from the hands of persons with any skin infections.

Reported poisoned foods include such things as custards, cream filled cakes, processed meats, poultry, salads and milk.

Prevention of staphylococcus intoxication includes the prompt refrigeration of foods to prevent the multiplication of any staph organisms which may have been introduced. Foods should be kept at 50 degrees or less until just before eaten.

Salmonella bacteria is the other major source of food poisoning. Consumption causes an infection, not a poison. Symptoms usually occur within 12 to 24 hours and include abdominal pain, diarrhea, chills, fever, frequent vomiting and prostration. Deaths are uncommon but are more frequent than in the case of staph poisoning.

Salmonella are killed by heating for 15 minutes at 150 degrees. Outbreaks are usually traced to insufficiently cooked foods — too low a temperature or too short duration, insufficiently prepared foods containing dried eggs, food prepared by an infected food handler, protection of food from cockroaches and rodents, foods kept above 50 degrees or below 140 degrees F. for sufficient period to allow bacteria to multiply.

Preventive measures include proper refrigeration to prevent the organism from multiplying, 45 degrees or less, proper cooking of foods from animal sources, meat, poultry, etc.

In general, to prevent any possibility of "food poisoning".

Social Workers Attend Confab

Mrs. Martha Seibel social worker, and Mrs. Waneta Norman, supervisor, of the Pickaway County Welfare Department attended the seminar sponsored by the Ohio Citizens Council which was held in Columbus on April 18.

Speaking at the morning forum on "What is Next for Public Welfare in Ohio" was John E. Hansen, Director, Ohio Department of Public Welfare. Many innovative ideas were presented by the Director in his challenge of the future direction of welfare.

In the afternoon session Dr. James A. Bax, Commissioner, Community Services Administration, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare chose as his subject "The Development of Social Services through Federal Funding." Special emphasis by Director Hansen has been placed on obtaining a greater share of federal funds for the State to implement services.

Scioto Society Fund Drive Kick-Off Set

Scioto Society Trustees wish to remind solicitors and interested citizens of the Kick-off meeting on Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in the Junior High School auditorium.

A member of the Executive Committee will give instruction in solicitation as well as the latest information concerning the construction of the Sugar Loaf amphitheatre.

cook all foods just prior to consumption to maintain these foods at a minimum of 140 degrees F. until served.

Keep all perishables such as milk, potato salads, dairy products, etc. at 45 degrees F. or less until served. Bacteria grow very rapidly between temperatures of 55 degrees F. to 135 degrees F.

Applying these simple sanitary practices may prevent the wholly unnecessary food poisonings that occur everyday at picnics, social events and at home. Proper food handling is important to the health of us all and it deserves our full attention. Often though, it is taken for granted and more often than you realize, someone gets very ill.

During the weekend visit the American squad made its best showing yet in the table tennis matches, dividing a 10-game bout with the Chinese 5-5.

The Chinese were treated to a Mississippi riverboat ride, an afternoon on a 1,000-acre horse farm and a lot of Southern fried chicken.

Pennsylvania ..

tion, cautioned his Massachusetts supporters against paying too much attention to a new poll by the Boston Globe.

The poll published Sunday gave McGovern 43 per cent, Muskie 19 per cent, almost a complete reversal of a poll published Feb. 13. The latest poll was a continuation of a trend registered in a sampling a week earlier that gave McGovern 38 per cent and Muskie 27 per cent.

Speaking to a Knights of Columbus breakfast in Medford, near Boston, McGovern said he hopes to show that his appeal has spread from the suburbs and campuses to working class areas.

Muskie, abruptly canceling a last-minute campaign trip to Massachusetts where some of his supporters are privately conceding defeat, received enthusiastic receptions in Polish-American parts of northeastern Pennsylvania before returning to Philadelphia for appearances at Polish, Jewish and black gatherings.

Muskie's television speech, taped Saturday morning, was carried in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Sunday night and was scheduled for showing, in part or in full, on some two dozen stations in all major Pennsylvania cities today.

The Maine Democrat said a vote for him Tuesday would be a vote to freeze food prices, change America and reform taxes.

"This is the first round in the fight to move President Nixon out of the White House," Muskie said. "This is the first round in our fight for economic justice."

Humphrey's victory prediction came in an appearance Sunday on the CBS-TV program "Face the Nation," broadcast from Pittsburgh.

"I'm going to win this one," the Minnesota senator predicted. But he hedged on his chances of taking a majority of the 137 delegates, saying, "I think we can get a plurality." McGovern has predicted he will win a majority of the 239 delegates to be picked in the two states Tuesday.

Humphrey said he would back McGovern or any other "good Democrat" chosen to head the party's ticket. He said he does not consider Wallace to be a card-carrying Democrat.

Wallace spent Saturday in Pennsylvania, addressing more than 5,000 in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena in his only major appearance in the state. Jackson has not campaigned here, preferring to get a head start on the May 2 Ohio primary.

Woman Being Held In Slaying Of 2 Men

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police held a 23-year-old woman for questioning and were seeking two men in the slaying Sunday of James Sheppard, 23, and John E. Wright, 22, in an East Side apartment.

Detectives said the shootings stemmed from an argument that broke out during an all-night birthday party at the woman's apartment.

Circleville Seniors To Present Moliere's 'Le Malade Imaginaire'

By CRAIG ALLISON
Senior Play Publicity Committee

As graduation rapidly approaches, some seniors in area high schools feel a need to express themselves once more before they become alumni.

In many schools, the class play is still a favorite way to release this expression. At Circleville High School, Friday and Saturday, a group of 21 seniors will express themselves theatrically for the last time.

Under the direction of Will Dunkle, speech and drama instructor at Circleville High School, a cast of ten characters and a troupe of 11 dancers will perform their version of "Le Malade Imaginaire," by Moliere.

"Le Malade Imaginaire" is a seventeenth century French

comedy, whose English translation reads "The Imaginary Invalid." It involves a very rich French nobleman who imagines himself almost constantly ill. But his maid, servants, and his private doctor and the doctor's son all pool their efforts and manage to help the poor wretch overcome his psychological condition. The comedy comes from the technique the rest of the cast uses to help the hypochondriac nobleman.

THE part of the imaginary invalid, Monsieur Ardin, is played by Mike Missler. His moans and groans would cause one to think any moment will be his last on earth. But with the help of the other members of the cast, he manages to struggle through.

Heading the list of characters in the play is Toinette, the maid, played by Debbie Walters. Ardin's family is composed of Beline, his wife, who is played by Brenda Delong. Ardin has a brother who figures heavily in the action of the play. His name is Beralde, and the part is cast by Dave Winner. Ardin is the father of two lovely daughters, Louise, his youngest, and Angelique, his eldest. Chris Estrom will portray Louise, and Sherry Bumgarner will take the part of Angelique.

Angelique has a lover, to add to the comedy of the evening. The lover is Cleante, and Kirk Brown will be reading those lines. Lines of wit are added sporadically by Andy Hoffman, who plays the part of the notary public, Monsieur de Bonnefoi.

The majority of the humor is delivered by a father-son combination. Dr. Diaforus, played by Gary Scherer, and his son Thomas Diaforus, played by Rick Sabine, roll the audience with a combination of stage movements and one-liners. Scherer and Sabine play double roles in the play. Scherer playing Dr. Purjon, and Sabine playing a pharmacist named Monsieur Fleurante.

A major part of the plot is the fact that Ardin wants his eldest daughter to marry the thick-headed Thomas Diaforus, who manages to follow his thick-headed father and become a doctor. However, Angelique wants to marry the dashing Cleante, and everyone in the cast knows this, everyone except Monsieur Ardin that is.

In the end, however, the rest of the cast convinces Ardin that Cleante is the best choice for the lovely Angelique, and they also cure him of his miserable condition.

The curtain will go up at 8 p.m. each evening. Tickets for the play are on sale from any cast member, at Circleville High School, or by calling Circleville at 474-2222, or 474-7416.

Reenlistment Opportunities Announced By Recruiters

Thousands of Army veterans who want to return to duty with the Regular Army can now do so with a change in enlistment rules just announced by the Department of the Army, the Circleville recruiting office said today.

With its strength decreasing as a result of small commitments in Vietnam, the Army had been forced to restrict enlistment of some former soldiers who did not meet grade and skill vacancies. The few openings which did exist were held for those who had training in highly critical career fields, according to Sgt. Jim Neal, local army recruiter.

Now the Army will return to standards similar to those which had been in effect before July, 1969. The change was effective on March 1 and will apply to several categories of former servicemen.

In the first category are former members of the Army who had six or less years service and who had been discharged in pay grades E-4 to E-6. These individuals may return to the Regular Army in their former pay grades if they re-enlist within three months of their date of separation and if the Army has a vacancy for someone with their combination of skill and pay grade. After separation of more than three months, the grade in which they may return will be determined by the Army.

The second category of prior service people includes those who were discharged as sergeants first class, master sergeant, sergeant major, and all other individuals who have served over six years. These individuals may not return before they have been separated from service for three months. They may then be accepted at a grade to be determined by the Army. The same requirement for a vacancy within the Army also applies to this category of former servicemen.

The third category concerns those who were discharged in pay grades E-4 to E-9 for whom no vacancies exist in their former skills and pay grades.

Rain Control

Fifteen years ago the scientific world was filled with optimistic predictions about the future of rainmaking through the seeding of clouds. Several U.S. government agencies were experimenting with various techniques, as were a number of private firms. Some of the attempts at producing rainfall seemed successful.

Today, the enthusiasm has dwindled to an occasional attempt, the number of rainmakers actively seeding the atmosphere could be counted on the fingers of one hand. And Washington has decided the concept has few practical applications.

What happened to discourage the rainmakers is that chemical seeding proved to be expensive and effective only over mountain ranges where conditions were ideal for rainfall.

The disappointing experience with cloud seeding has not discouraged scientists from attempting to control the weather. They now comprehend more fully the extent of the forces which combine to produce changes in the weather.

Controlling, and even creating, weather patterns are not impossible tasks. With the failure of cloud seeding as an effective, dependable and far-reaching control mechanism, research has fanned out considerably from its former narrow base.

The information thus gained added to the technological advancements in computer studies and projections is a strong combination.

Temperature and rainfall extremes experienced in the last year provide an added inducement.

Too Much Hospitalization?

There is no question that Medicare and Medicaid have provided many Americans with better medical care at less cost than they would otherwise have been able to enjoy. But regulations involved in administering those programs may have caused unnecessary expense by resulting in patients being hospitalized who could better have been treated at home.

A report prepared for the Senate Committee on Aging mentioned the Medicare regulation which requires a patient to be institutionalized for at least three days before the plan for persons over 65 will pay the costs of home health care.

As a result, the investigation intimated many persons are hospitalized who do not need such care and probably would be more comfortable physically elsewhere. A consequence is that alternatives to hospitalization are "diminishing in numbers, curtailing their services, narrowing their coverage to selected population groups and reducing the duration of care they offer," according to the report.

With hospital expenses leading the way in medical care cost increases, a government policy which promotes the unnecessary use of such facilities makes little sense. The first consideration for any patient covered by Medicare or Medicaid ought to be where can he be treated most satisfactorily, not where will the expense be covered by insurance.

According To Boyle

By F. RICHARD CICCONE (For Hal Boyle)

CHICAGO (AP) — The ice is in the martini, the coal is in the grill. It's barbecue time again. The American male is ready to flee again to the great summer pastime of cooking outdoors, and the average man's joy in this pursuit has little to do with the taste of charcoal broiled meat.

When a husband adjourns to the backyard to light and guard the fire, it is probably the only chance he will get all summer to look at the crabgrass and dandelions without being told to pick them.

When the sparks fly from the grill, a father can righteously demand that the little children be kept inside—the only time he can venture outdoors without a band of followers, some of whom inevitably need their diapers changed.

The pleasure of inhaling the scent of a sizzling steak is nothing compared with the one-upmanship gained over the wife who for a few minutes is pleased that she doesn't have to dirty the broiler again or heat up the kitchen. She may be so pleased that she even makes a fresh drink for the cook, a rare occurrence.

Catholic Teacher Wages Frozen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Freezes on lay teachers' salaries were among steps planned Friday by Catholic Boards of education in Youngstown and Cleveland to counteract a ruling that public aid to parochial schools is unconstitutional.

The ruling was made Monday by a three-judge federal panel in Columbus. A similar ruling was made Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court on public aid to parochial schools in Missouri.

The Youngstown Diocese's board of education not only ordered the freeze on lay teachers' salaries, but adopted maximum school tuition fees.

The cunning male communing with nature in the backyard must be careful, however, not to confuse the act of barbecuing with the purpose.

The trend to kettle cookers, hibachis, wagon grills and gas barbecues can signal the end of freedom. The male who wants to stand on the patio and watch have a simple round grill, unshielded from wind or rain.

This insures his presence for every moment of the cooking process:

—"I better not leave it alone, the wind's a little strong."

—"Of course I'd rather talk to you but if I don't watch the grill the kids might sneak out and burn themselves."

—"I'd lower the volume on the TV but I can't hear it from out here and you know I don't want to get your steak done too well again."

There is an inherent problem in mixing martinis with the ritual of the barbecue. In fact, the amount of Martinis mixed is inversely proportional to the quality of the dinner.

The cunning practitioner again knows the shrewdness of offering to cook hotdogs or roasts. With hotdogs you can start over again, with little harassment about the waste.

With roasts you can burn the outside and have it raw on the inside, meaning there's something in-between for everyone.

TUESDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is excellent for coordinating your efforts toward cooperative goals with those you have known for a considerable period of time. But the evening is not good for anything that is of a risky nature, or for listening to unreliable persons who are trying to get you to do what they want.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Day hours are best for contacting individuals who can help you advance in some way, but the evening is taboo for such. Shop around for articles you need in the days ahead. Treat mate with more kindness for best results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Planning for more money in the future is wise during the day, but take care you do not overspend for pleasure in p.m. Look into new avenues of expression for which you are suited. A more cooperative attitude toward co-workers is good.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can enjoy dining and other pleasures with one you like and make this a mutually happy day. Plan just how to improve your present existence best. Stop playing games with mate or you get into trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Focus attention on home and family and do some delightful entertaining there in p.m. Add the brie-a-brac, articles that add to its charm, comfort. Pay those bills without further delay.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Sit down with associates and talk over how to have more future profits and how to gain more goodwill from customers. A letter may reach you that opens new doors of opportunity to you. Take care of it quickly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you follow advice experts give you, you know how best to handle financial and other matters well. Set up a new budget that meets the present needs. Stop being so old-fashioned in daily operations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are in a most charming mood now and can do much to please your regular allies who are rather depressed. Attend that social affair where your presence will be appreciated, valued. Have fun.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Secret affairs need to be handled in such a way that you are satisfied, so collect all the information you can which will help you. Better preparation can make daily duties more successful. Stop being so antagonistic toward others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you plan how to be more helpful to good friends, you can get along harmoniously with them in the future. Accept invitation to a party in p.m. that will make it possible for you to rub elbows with charming people and make them your friends. Grow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have many career matters that need immediate and wise attention; take care of them first of all today. Get credit affairs handled early. Showing you are exact makes a fine impression on others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 10) New ideas are swimming around in your head and if you contact people who can be helpful with them, you can make big headway soon. Study brochures, manuscripts, periodicals, etc., also. A more enthusiastic manner is wise now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your intuition is working fine today, so be sure to rely on it more than you have in the past and get right results when dealing with others. Doing something tonight that is thoughtful will make mate happier.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those gifted young people who will quickly understand what others have in mind and this combined with the unusual charm of this nature can make for a happy and successful life, since communicating with others will come easy. An ideal chart for the super salesperson, the beautician, the artist and particularly the stage and the movies. Wise discipline needed early.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

The Supreme Test For Nixon

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The North Vietnamese, who have always coordinated their military and political strategies, obviously hope to come up with some kind of pre-rainy season victory in South Vietnam in time to give the Kremlin, the source of all those tanks and sophisticated anti-aircraft weapons, a triumphant ace card when Richard Nixon arrives in Moscow. But what if General Giap's bald-faced invasion loses momentum and goes into reverse as the American B-52s and gunships, with the help of a few sunny days, get in their devastating licks?

The prospect that "Vietnamization" might actually succeed was already throwing the Left into a tizzy before Hanoi decided to risk everything for 1972 on a conventional armored invasion. For example, Bob Kuttner, the extreme radical columnist of New York's Village Voice, has been seething with impatience over the behavior of the Senate doves who "cannot quite bring themselves to say that the war should be ended because the other side has the just cause."

The liberals, Kuttner thinks, "have unconsciously accepted the radical view of revolutionary Vietnam's invincibility, but they have been afraid to squarely ask themselves whether the Vietnamese revolution ought to win." If they have privately been thinking that a Hanoi victory is preferable, "it is high time," so Kuttner says, "to say this in so many words."

If Hanoi should succeed in its Wehrmacht-type drives through the DMZ and from Cambodia, the Senate doves won't have to risk saying the Communists have a moral right to win. The fait accompli will be enough. Smugly, they will be able to argue that the defeat of "Vietnamization" was foreordained by geography and the superior will power of Hanoi's armies. But if our air power, acting under President Nixon's blanket authority to hit where it will be the most effective, does manage to break the thrust of General Giap's newly mechanized legions, it could have the most unforeseen effects on the American political campaign.

Presented with a victory in which no U.S. infantrymen had been compelled to risk their lives, the great majority of success-worshipping Americans would suddenly see Nixon as something of a wonder man. What would McGovern, Muskie and Company, bidding for primary votes, have going for them? Bereft of any immediate evidence that "Vietnamization" is a delusion and the war is unwinnable, they would either have to shut up or call on Nixon to desert an ally in the moment of victory.

A McGovern might talk about the "immorality" of using crushing air power on rear areas in North Vietnam, but would the pragmatic American people, whose objection to the war has been rooted in more practical considerations (40,000 dead and all that money wasted), really care? Would even the "kids," who no longer have to fear dying in alien jungles, turn out en masse to lament the situation?

All this, as I write, is speculation. If the South Vietnamese do cave in and if rain precludes a successful use of our supporting air power, Nixon will go to Moscow with no chance of getting his "generation of peace" on terms short of surrender. McGovern, Muskie and Company will be able to say "I told you so" without ever risking contumely for putting their country in the war guilt dock.

The stakes are running extremely high. If Hanoi wins it is even doubtful that Nixon would go to Moscow. With a victory for their tanks in Indochina the Soviets would conclude that they had broken our will, and why would Nixon care to let them rub it in? Better to stay at home and brazen things out. A Jackson, a Wallace or a Yorty might win in the California primary on the ground that the Democrats had better avoid going into November with anyone who could be labelled a defeatist. The argument would be that we need a brave caretaker to run an isolationist country.

Knowing the immensity of the stakes, it is inconceivable that Nixon won't throw every last bit of air power into the fight, bombing as far north as is necessary. Any other course would be suicidal, whether for himself, his country or for the "generation of peace."

FIGHTING SPREADS — The North Vietnamese broadened their offensive below the DMZ. Columns pushed across the Dong Ha-Cua Viet River while another threatened Quang Tri from east. Fire base Anne was abandoned by the South Vietnamese but they held on at Fire Base Pedro. North of the DMZ U.S. planes struck at missile sites and other targets and U.S. destroyers tried to stop the North Vietnamese crossing at mouth of Cua Viet River.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Does a child who is born past the expected date of delivery have a greater chance of birth abnormalities?

Mrs. H. Z., Ky.

Dear Mrs. Z.: Such newborn infants are sometimes referred to as "postmature" babies. Any infant born after the usual 40 weeks of pregnancy may be in this category.

A study in Nova Scotia of about 15,000 births found that overdue pregnancies occurred more often in women who were having their first child.

As would be expected, the longer the gestation period, the larger was the birth weight of the child.

The most significant information that accrued from this study was that late-born infants had no more birth abnormalities than children born in the normal time.

What can be done to relieve the pain of a spur on the heel? What causes spurs? Is it a form of arthritis?

Mr. W. L., Mo.

Dear Mr. L.: Spurs of the heel are deposits of calcium in the tendons of the heel muscles.

They commonly occur in people subjected to repeated injury. Athletes and professional dancers tend to develop them if their heels are not adequately protected.

Spurs can be extremely painful, especially during the first few steps after a night's rest. They are not generally considered part of an arthritic disorder.

Is the term "focus of infection" still used in medicine today?

Miss D. N., Ga.

Dear Miss N.: The concept, "focus of infection," originated with the idea that germs in the teeth, the tonsils, the sinuses, the kidneys, or the bladder, or other organs, might enter the blood stream.

It was suspected the germs would set up housekeeping in distant parts of the body. Some believe that forms of arthritis may be related to a chronic infection in other areas of the body.

Whether or not one actually believes in a "focus of infection" philosophy is not nearly as important as the fact that at known focus of infection should be eradicated.

Rain Control

Fifteen years ago the scientific world was filled with optimistic predictions about the future of rainmaking through the seeding of clouds. Several U.S. government agencies were experimenting with various techniques, as were a number of private firms. Some of the attempts at producing rainfall seemed successful.

Today, the enthusiasm has dwindled to an occasional attempt, the number of rainmakers actively seeding the atmosphere could be counted on the fingers of one hand. And Washington has decided the concept has few practical applications.

What happened to discourage the rainmakers is that chemical seeding proved to be expensive and effective only over mountain ranges where conditions were ideal for rainfall.

The disappointing experience with cloud seeding has not discouraged scientists from attempting to control the weather. They now comprehend more fully the extent of the forces which combine to produce changes in the weather.

Controlling, and even creating, weather patterns are not impossible tasks. With the failure of cloud seeding as an effective, dependable and far-reaching control mechanism, research has fanned out considerably from its former narrow base.

The information thus gained added to the technological advancements in computer studies and projections is a strong combination.

Temperature and rainfall extremes experienced in the last year provide an added inducement.

Too Much Hospitalization?

There is no question that Medicare and Medicaid have provided many Americans with better medical care at less cost than they would otherwise have been able to enjoy. But regulations involved in administering those programs may have caused unnecessary expense by resulting in patients being hospitalized who could better have been treated at home.

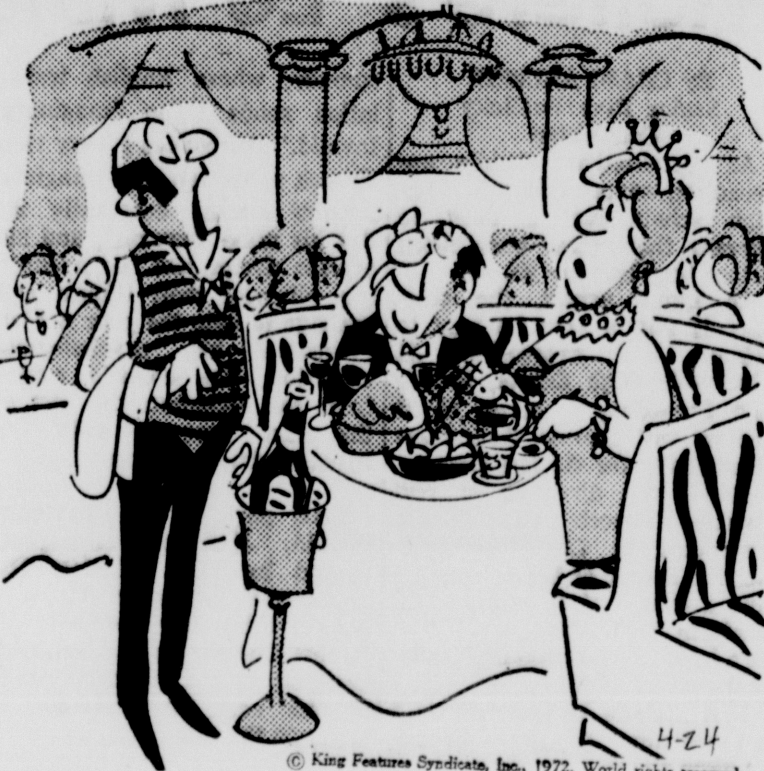

A report prepared for the Senate Committee on Aging mentioned the Medicare regulation which requires a patient to be institutionalized for at least three days before the plan for persons over 65 will pay the costs of home health care.

As a result, the investigation indicated many persons are hospitalized who do not need such care and probably would be more comfortable physically elsewhere. A consequence is that alternatives to hospitalization are "diminishing in numbers, curtailing their services, narrowing their coverage to selected population groups and reducing the duration of care they offer," according to the report.

With hospital expenses leading the way in medical care cost increases, a government policy which promotes the unnecessary use of such facilities makes little sense. The first consideration for any patient covered by Medicare or Medicaid ought to be where can he be treated most satisfactorily, not where will the expense be covered by insurance.

Horoscope Forecast

TUESDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is excellent for coordinating your efforts toward cooperative goals with those you have known for a considerable period of time. But the evening is not good for anything that is of a risky nature, or for listening to unreliable persons who are trying to get you to do what they want.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Day hours are best for contacting individuals who can help you advance in some way, but the evening is taboo for such. Shop around for articles you need in the days ahead. Treat mate with more kindness for best results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Planning for more money in the future is wise during the day, but take care you do not overspend for pleasure in p.m. Look into new avenues of expression for which you are suited. A more cooperative attitude toward co-workers is good.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can enjoy dining and other pleasures with one you like and make this a mutually happy day. Plan just how to improve your present existence best. Stop playing games with mate or you get into trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Focus attention on home and family and do some delightful entertaining there in p.m. Add the bric-a-brac, articles that add to its charm, comfort. Pay those bills without further delay.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Sit down with associates and talk over how to have more future profits and how to gain more goodwill from customers. A letter may reach you that opens new doors of opportunity to you. Take care of it quickly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you follow advice experts give you, you know how best to handle financial and other matters well. Set up a new budget that meets the present needs. Stop being so old-fashioned in daily operations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are in a most charming mood now and can do much to please your regular allies who are rather depressed. Attend that social affair where your presence will be appreciated. Valued. Have fun.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Secret affairs need to be handled in such a way that you are satisfied, so collect all the information you can which will help you. Better preparation can make daily duties more successful. Stop being so antagonistic toward others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you plan how to be more helpful to good friends, you can get along harmoniously with them in the future. Accept invitation to a party in p.m. that will make it possible for you to rub elbows with charming people and make them your friends. Grow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have many career matters that need immediate and wise attention; take care of them first of all today. Get credit affairs handled early. Showing you are exact makes a fine impression on others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) New ideas are swimming around in your head and if you contact people who can be helpful with them, you can make big headway soon. Study brochures, manuscripts, periodicals, etc., also. A more enthusiastic manner is wise now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your intuition is working fine today, so be sure to rely on it more than you have in the past and get right results when dealing with others. Doing something tonight that is thoughtful will make mate happier.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those gifted young people who will quickly understand what others have in mind and this combined with the unusual charm of this nature can make for a happy and successful life, since communicating with others will come easy. An ideal chart for the super salesperson, the beautician, the artist and particularly the stage and the movies. Wise discipline needed early.

The Supreme Test For Nixon

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The North Vietnamese, who have always coordinated their military and political strategies, obviously hope to come up with some kind of pre-rainy season victory in South Vietnam in time to give the Kremlin, the source of all those tanks and sophisticated anti-aircraft weapons, a triumphant ace card when Richard Nixon arrives in Moscow. But what if General Giap's bald-faced invasion loses momentum and goes into reverse as the American B-52s and gunships, with the help of a few sunny days, get in their devastating licks?

The prospect that "Vietnamization" might actually succeed was already throwing the Left into a tizzy before Hanoi decided to risk everything for 1972 on a conventional armored invasion. For example, Bob Kuttner, the extreme radical columnist of New York's Village Voice, has been seething with impatience over the behavior of the Senate doves who "cannot quite bring themselves to say that the war should be ended because the other side has the just cause."

The liberals, Kuttner thinks, "have unconsciously accepted the radical view of revolutionary Vietnam's invincibility, but they have been afraid to squarely ask themselves whether the Vietnamese revolution ought to win." If they have privately been thinking that a Hanoi victory is preferable, "it is high time," so Kuttner says, "to say this in so many words."

If Hanoi should succeed in its Wehrmacht-type drives through the DMZ and from Cambodia, the Senate doves won't have to risk saying the Communists have a moral right to win. The fait accompli will be enough. Smugly, they will be able to argue that the defeat of "Vietnamization" was foreordained by geography and the superior will power of Hanoi's armies. But if our air power, acting under President Nixon's blanket authority to hit where it will be the most effective, does manage to break the thrust of General Giap's newly mechanized legions, it could have the most unforeseen effects on the American political campaign.

Presented with a victory in which no U.S. infantrymen had been compelled to risk their lives, the great majority of success-worshipping Americans would suddenly see Nixon as something of a wonder man. What would McGovern, Muskie and Company, bidding for primary votes, have going for them? Bereft of any immediate evidence that "Vietnamization" is a delusion and the war is unwinnable, they would either have to shut up or call on Nixon to desert an ally in the moment of victory.

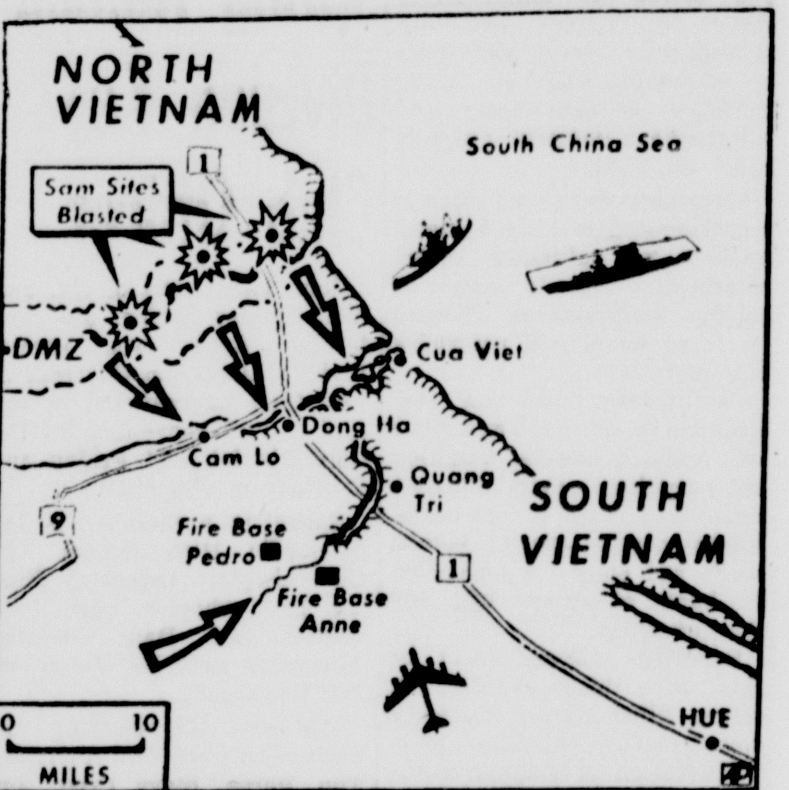

A McGovern might talk about the "immorality" of using crushing air power on rear areas in North Vietnam, but would the pragmatic American people, whose objection to the war has been rooted in more practical considerations (40,000 dead and all that money wasted), really care? Would even the "kids," who no longer have to fear dying in alien jungles, turn out en masse to lament the situation?

All this, as I write, is speculation. If the South Vietnamese do cave in and if rain precludes a successful use of our supporting air power, Nixon will go to Moscow with no chance of getting his "generation of peace" on terms short of surrender. McGovern, Muskie and Company will be able to say "I told you so" without ever risking contumely for putting their country in the war guilt dock.

The stakes are runn'g extremely high. If Hanoi wins it is even doubtful that Nixon would go to Moscow. With a victory for their tanks in Indochina the Soviets would conclude that they had broken our will, and why would Nixon care to let them rub it in? Better to stay at home and brazen things out. A Jackson, a Wallace or a Yorty might win in the California primary on the ground that the Democrats had better avoid going into November with anyone who could be labelled a defeatist. The argument would be that we need a brave caretaker to run an isolationist country.

Knowing the immensity of the stakes, it is inconceivable that Nixon won't throw every last bit of air power into the fight, bombing as far north as is necessary. Any other course would be suicidal, whether for himself, his country or for the "generation of peace."

FIGHTING SPREADS — The North Vietnamese broadened their offensive below the DMZ. Communists pushed across the Dong Ha-Cua Viet River while another threatened Quang Tri from east. Fire base Anne was abandoned by the South Vietnamese but they held on at Fire Base Pedro. North of the DMZ U.S. planes struck at missile sites and other targets and U.S. destroyers tried to stop the North Vietnamese crossing at mouth of Cua Viet River.

Dear Editor: I would like to express my appreciation to the members of Logan Elm Child Conservation League for their thoughtfulness and for their generous contribution to the Recreation Fund of the Pickaway County Children Services Board.

The Recreation Fund which is supported by private donations makes possible many benefits, privileges and extracurricular activities for many of the 350 children currently cared for by the Board which would not be possible otherwise. These activities in turn assist immeasurably in the growth and development of these children toward responsible adulthood.

For the warmth and hospitality which they extended to me as guest speaker at their monthly gathering on April 19, 1972, and for the interest and support which they have extended to our program and the children in our care, my grateful and sincere thanks.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Does a child who is born past the expected date of delivery have a greater chance of birth abnormalities?

Mrs. H. Z., Ky.

Dear Mrs. Z.: Such newborn infants are sometimes referred to as "postmature" babies. Any infant born after the usual 40 weeks of pregnancy may be in this category.

A study in Nova Scotia of about 15,000 births found that overdue pregnancies occurred more often in women who were having their first child.

As would be expected, the longer the gestation period, the larger was the birth weight of the child.

The most significant information that accrued from this study was that late-born infants had no more birth abnormalities than children born in the normal time.

What can be done to relieve the pain of a spur on the heel? What causes spurs? Is it a form of arthritis?

Mr. W. L., Mo.

Dear Mr. L.: Spurs of the heel are deposits of calcium in the tendons of the heel muscles.

They commonly occur in people subjected to repeated injury. Athletes and professional dancers tend to develop them if their heels are not adequately protected.

Spurs can be extremely painful, especially during the first few steps after a night's rest. They are not generally considered part of an arthritic disorder.

The pain can be relieved by using foam rubber sponges which, at the same time, will protect against further and continued injury. Cortisone is sometimes used to relieve severe inflammation around the spur.

According To Boyle

By F. RICHARD CICCONE (For Hal Boyle)

CHICAGO (AP) — The ice is in the martini, the coal is in the grill. It's barbecue time again. The American male is ready to flee again to the great summer pastime of cooking out doors, and the average man's joy in this pursuit has little to do with the taste of charcoal broiled meat.

When a husband adjourns to the backyard to light and guard the fire, it is probably the only chance he will get all summer to look at the crabgrass and dandelions without being told to pick them.

When the sparks fly from the grill, a father can righteously demand that the little children be kept inside—the only time he can venture outdoors without a band of followers, some of whom inevitably need their diapers changed.

The pleasure of inhaling the scent of a sizzling steak is nothing compared with the one-upmanship gained over the wife who for a few minutes is pleased that she doesn't have to dirty the broiler again or heat up the kitchen. She may be so pleased that she even makes a fresh drink for the cook, a rare occurrence.

Catholic Teacher Wages Frozen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Freezes on lay teachers' salaries were among steps planned Friday by Catholic Boards of education in Youngstown and Cleveland to counteract a ruling that public aid to parochial schools is unconstitutional.

The ruling was made Monday by a three-judge federal panel in Columbus. A similar ruling was made Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court on public aid to parochial schools in Missouri.

The Youngstown Diocese's board of education not only ordered the freeze on lay teachers' salaries, but adopted maximum school tuition fees.

The cunning male communing with nature in the backyard must be careful, however, not to confuse the act of barbecuing with the purpose.

The trend to kettle cookers, hibachis, wagon grills and gas barbecues can signal the end of freedom. The male who wants to stand on the patio and watch have a simple round grill, unshielded from wind or rain.

This insures his presence for every moment of the cooking process:

"I better not leave it alone, the wind's a little strong."

"Of course I'd rather talk to you but if I don't watch the grill the kids might sneak out and burn themselves."

"I'd lower the volume on the TV but I can't hear it from out here and you know I don't want to get your steak done too well again."

There is an inherent problem in mixing martinis with the ritual of the barbecue. In fact, the amount of Martinis mixed is inversely proportional to the quality of the dinner.

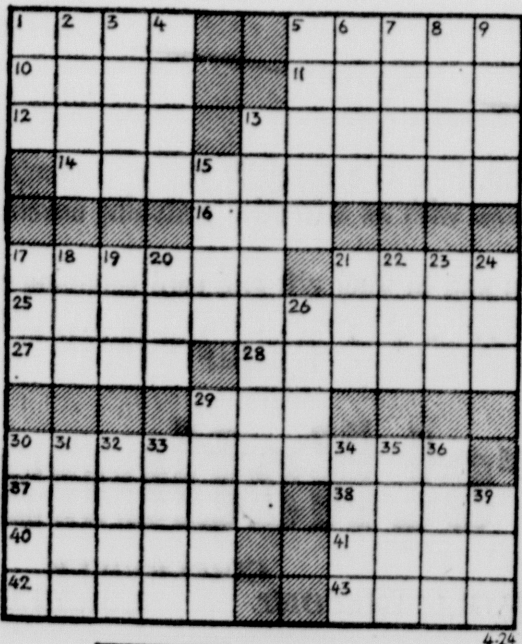

The cunning practitioner again knows the shrewdness of offering to cook hotdogs or roasts. With hotdogs you can start over again, with little harassment about the waste.

With roasts you can burn the outside and have it raw on the inside, meaning there's something in-between for everyone.

Packy East Does Waltz

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "In this corner, weighing 198 pounds, give or take a few, the palooka from Toluca, Packy East."

Jimmy Lennon, the ring announcer, continued his introductions Friday night: "The man who put p-u in pugilism."

Packey East, better known as Bob Hope, arrived by ambulance. He was accompanied by a buxom nurse for the "fight" with Sugar Ray Robinson at Hope's Toluca Lake home.

Neither fighter landed a heavy blow in the bout which ended with Robinson, 51, former welter and middleweight boxing champion, and Hope, 68, in a waltzing clinch.

Hope once fought under the name Packy East in Ohio, before launching his entertainment career.

The winner was the Sugar Ray Youth Foundation. About 1,500 persons, including many celebrities, paid $50 per ticket. Hope said he wanted to help raise $100,000 for the foundation.

Views On TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway's Tony Awards show, which for the past couple of seasons has been setting high marks never achieved by the Oscars or the Emmys, slipped a couple of notches Sunday night with a very long program. Somehow it lost its former pace and zip.

True there were some samples from current theater. Ruby Keeler tapdanced in a scene from "No, No, Nanette," and there was a musical number from "Jesus Christ Superstar." Ethel Merman sang eight of her show-stopping tunes. Nine stars took turns working through a chronological—and delightful—reprise of Richard Rodgers' melodies. These two Broadway veterans were given standing ovations and special awards.

The entertainment portion of the 24-hour program was fine. The show slowed down in that old trouble spot: envelope-opening and presenting trophies. Eighteen awards were given out, almost all of them involving shows most people in the television audience had not seen and persons the viewer had never heard of.

It was a star-studded occasion, however. All the presenters were important performers, from Ingrid Bergman to Henry Fonda. But with all the little preliminary pleasantries and then the thank-yous it dragged considerably.

The program was preceded by a Burt Bacharach hour, "Close to Me," on the same ABC network. This was notable for the appearance of Rex Harrison talking through a couple of "My Fair Lady" numbers and reading a bit from the novel "Lost Horizons." The hit of the hour, however, was Carol Burnett singing a couple of lost-lady songs very well and never once clowning.

The program seemed to strive hard for novelty. At one point it had the British royal household guards playing a Bacharach song to a bunch of horses. By and large, it was not as attractive as previous specials focusing on the popular composer and his work.

The big space show was the merriest program of the week-end. The two ebullient astronauts bouncing around the lunar highlands gathering rocks sounded as excited as Boy Scouts by the scenery and the problems of their assignment. Almost all their sentences sounded as if they should have ended with exclamation marks.

The television cameras on the moon sent beautiful pictures. There was something eerie in the blast-off of Orion on its return to the mother ship. The camera left on the moonover showed the departure and then continued to send pictures back to earth.

cook, but I am probably the best corn popper in the state of Michigan. Admittedly, my prowess is not divinely inspired, but is the conglomeration of instruction from a local 65-year-old lady and a former national champion grower of corn.

I have taught many people how to make delicious popcorn, and I derive as much pleasure out of their enjoyment of it as I do my own.

BILL IN COLDWATER

DEAR BILL: All right, you pop the corn and I'll pop the question: How about that recipe?

DEAR ABBY: You blew it when you stated that good cooks should share their recipes.

I happen to be the world's best dancer, salesman and amateur chef. And Abby, my love, no one, but NO ONE gets my recipe for spaghetti! (They also beg me for my recipe for sweet and sour sauce, and many others, but my spaghetti sauce is out of this world, and everybody who tastes it wants to know my secret.)

Thus far I have given it to no one. I'm not selfish. I like to cook, and I like to treat my guests to something they can't get anywhere else. Sorry about that.

BOB IN LONG BEACH

DEAR BOB: You may be the world's best dancer and amateur chef, but you blew it when you said you were the world's best salesman. My husband is! P.S.: I'll put my mother in law's sweet and sour sauce against yours any day, but Bob, old boy, about that spaghetti recipe: Are you willing to negotiate?

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more letter about recipes? I used to share mine, too, but no more. Here's why:

A few years ago I dreamed up a recipe of my own and it made such a big hit, my friends asked me for it, so I gave it to them.

Well, one fine day I saw that one of those friends had submitted MY recipe in a contest, taking full credit for having created it, and she won $25 for it!

When I spoke to her about it, she said when I gave it to her I forfeited all right to it.

In a more recent instance, a hairdresser asked me how I keep my skin so nice. When I told her it was my own formula, she wormed it out of me with a plea that she had "problems" with her skin and really had to know.

A year later, I found that this hairdresser had been making MY formula, putting it in jars, and was selling it for a big price.

When I threatened her with a lawsuit she stopped, but since that incident, I have never given a recipe or anything else that hasn't been published in a magazine or newspaper that everyone has access to.

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: If people write and ask me how they can get your miracle dry skin formula, what shall I tell them? To dry up?

DEAR ABBY: About that earth-shaking question of whether to give out a recipe or not, why the hassle?

I agree with you, "If someone else enjoys the same thing you enjoy it in no way diminishes your enjoyment of it!"

And if someone takes the recipe to her grave with her, who gains?

Ohio Senate Committees Ponder EPA, No-Fault Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five Senate committees will meet this week to air proposals the full General Assembly is expected to act upon when it returns May 8.

The Environmental Affairs Committee is tentatively scheduled to meet today to hear the all-encompassing Environmental Protection Agency bill Gov. John Gilligan has endorsed.

The other committees will meet Wednesday.

The EPA bill, sponsored by Sen. Ralph Regula, R-29 Navarre, is opposed by the Ohio Manufacturers Association and several smaller lobbying groups.

The EPA would, under the bill, take air and water pollution agencies from the Department of Health. The EPA director would have broad enforcement powers.

A "pure" no-fault insurance bill, drafted by Nationwide Insurance and introduced by Sen. Robert Cortis, R-13 Elyria, will be before the Agriculture, Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

It would exempt drivers from court actions regardless of who is at fault. The insurance companies would be forced to pick up the tab of damages by the motorists they covered.

Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-2 Findlay, the committee chairman, said he feels it should be amended to permit court action in cases where they are injuries or damages run extremely high.

The Finance Committee Wednesday at 2 p.m. will begin hearings on confirmation of David Hill, Gilligan's appointee to the Ohio Board of Regents.

It will make the first time in Ohio history that a governor's choice for a position has had to go through hearings.

In the past, the legislature has often confirmed cabinet positions by taking no action. Under law, the appointments become automatic if nothing is done and the legislature adjourns.

The Judiciary Committee is scheduled to hold its second hearing on the controversial criminal code revision bill that passed the House last month. It will meet Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

The bill, which updates

Ohio's ancient criminal code, would eliminate from the criminal law such former crimes as homosexuality, fornication and adultery between consenting adults in private.

The Education and Health Committee, scheduled to meet Wednesday at 10 a.m., will take up a bill that would set up a statewide network of drug treatment centers.

Local NFO Names Milk Committee

At a meeting held recently of the Pickaway County National farmers Organization, five men were elected to the Milk Bargaining Committee.

They are: Ed Conrad, Dale Gifford, Hoyt Martin, Bill Davis and Bob Barnes. Bill Caudill and Lawrence Carter were elected alternates.

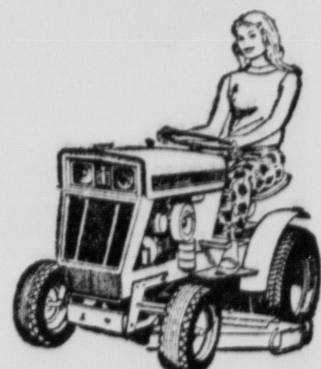

Special guest at the meeting was Urban Schnipke, Area Grain Representative of NFO. He reported that the NFO is selling 200,000 bushels of grain daily. He stressed the importance to get all beans blocked now so that export sales can be arranged and the price to the farmer can be kept up for future delivery.

Other reports given indicated that price paid to NFO producers of milk was up 14 cents during March. Also, Joe Carle announced that the NFO has extended the Floor Price Program on hogs for 120 days.

He stated, "We have proved the packer would honor floor price agreement and so paid when the market dropped below the floor price." He went on to say that NFO needs more hog producers working and moving together to continue expanding the hog program.

In addition, he noted that the NFO has a favorable formula on cattle sold on rail — over 3½ cents over sheet price on choice steers. The next meeting of the NFO will be held May 16 at 8 p.m. at the Five Points Church social rooms.

DEAR ABBY: About that male cook who "took pride" in his cooking and refused to divulge his recipes: Some of the worst cooks I've known were men who "took pride" in their cooking.

Views On TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway's Tony Awards show, which for the past couple of seasons has been setting high marks never achieved by the Oscars or the Emmys, slipped a couple of notches Sunday night with a very long program. Somehow it lost its former pace and zip.

True there were some samples from current theater. Ruby Keeler tapdanced in a scene from "No, No, Nanette," and there was a musical number from "Jesus Christ Superstar." Ethel Merman sang eight of her show-stopping tunes. Nine stars took turns working through a chronologic-al—and delightful—reprise of Richard Rodgers' melodies. These two Broadway veterans were given standing ovations and special awards.

The entertainment portion of the 2 1/2-hour program was fine. The show slowed down in that old trouble spot: envelope-opening and presenting trophies. Eighteen awards were given out, almost all of them involving shows most people in the television audience had not seen and persons the viewer had never heard of.

It was a star-studded occasion, however. All the presenters were important performers, from Ingrid Bergman to Henry Fonda. But with all the little preliminary pleasantries and then the thank-yous it dragged considerably.

The program was preceded by a Burt Bacharach hour, "Close to Me," on the same ABC network. This was notable for the appearance of Rex Harrison talking through a couple of "My Fair Lady" numbers and reading a bit from the novel "Lost Horizons." The hit of the hour, however, was Carol Burnett singing a couple of lost-lady songs very well and never once clowning.

The program seemed to strive hard for novelty. At one point it had the British royal household guards playing a Bacharach song to a bunch of horses. By and large, it was not as attractive as previous specials focusing on the popular composer and his work.

The big space show was the merriest program of the week-end. The two ebullient astronauts bouncing around the lunar highlands gathering rocks sounded as excited as Boy Scouts by the scenery and the problems of their assignment. Almost all their sentences sounded as if they should have ended with exclamation marks.

The television cameras on the moon sent beautiful pictures. There was something eerie in the blast-off of Orion on its return to the mother ship. The camera left on the moonrover showed the departure and then continued to send pictures back to earth.

cook, but I am probably the best corn popper in the state of Michigan. Admittedly, my prowess is not divinely inspired, but is the conglomeration of instruction from a local 65-year-old lady and a former national champion grower of corn.

I have taught many people how to make delicious popcorn, and I derive as much pleasure out of their enjoyment of it as I do my own.

BILL IN COLDWATER

DEAR BILL: All right, you pop the corn and I'll pop the question: How about that recipe?

DEAR ABBY: You blew it when you stated that good cooks should share their recipes.

I happen to be the world's best dancer, salesman and amateur chef. And Abby, my love, no one, but NO ONE gets my recipe for spaghetti! (They also beg me for my recipe for sweet and sour sauce, and many others, but my spaghetti sauce is out of this world, and everybody who tastes it wants to know my secret.)

Thus far I have given it to no one. I'm not selfish, I like to cook, and I like to treat my guests to something they can't get anywhere else. Sorry about that.

BOB IN LONG BEACH

DEAR BOB: You may be the world's best dancer and amateur chef, but you blew it when you said you were the world's best salesman. My husband is! P.S.: I'll put my mother in law's sweet and sour sauce against yours any day, but Bob, old boy, about that spaghetti recipe: Are you willing to negotiate?

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more letter about recipes? I used to share mine, too, but no more. Here's why:

A few years ago I dreamed up a recipe of my own and it made such a big hit, my friends asked me for it, so I gave it to them.

Well, one fine day I saw that one of those friends had submitted MY recipe in a contest, taking full credit for having created it, and she won $25 for it!

When I spoke to her about it, she said when I gave it to her I forfeited all right to it.

In a more recent instance, a hairdresser asked me how I keep my skin so nice. When I told her it was my own formula, she wormed it out of me with a plea that she had "problems" with her skin and really had to know.

A year later, I found that this hairdresser had been making MY formula, putting it in jars, and was selling it for a big price.

When I threatened her with a lawsuit she stopped, but since that incident, I have never given a recipe or anything else that hasn't been published in a magazine or newspaper that everyone has access to.

LEARNED A LESSON

DEAR LEARNED: If people write and ask me how they can get your miracle dry skin formula, what shall I tell them? To dry up?

DEAR ABBY: About that earth-shaking question of whether to give out a recipe or not, why the hassle?

I agree with you, "If someone else enjoys the same thing you enjoy it in no way diminishes your enjoyment of it!"

And if someone takes the recipe to her grave with her, who gains?

Ohio Senate Committees Ponder EPA, No-Fault Bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five Senate committees will meet this week to air proposals the full General Assembly is expected to act upon when it returns May 8.

The Environmental Affairs Committee is tentatively scheduled to meet today to hear the all-encompassing Environmental Protection Agency bill Gov. John Gilligan has endorsed.

The other committees will meet Wednesday.

The EPA bill, sponsored by Sen. Ralph Regula, R-29 Navarre, is opposed by the Ohio Manufacturers Association and several smaller lobbying groups.

The EPA would, under the bill, take air and water pollution agencies from the Department of Health. The EPA director would have broad enforcement powers.

A "pure" no-fault insurance bill, drafted by Nationwide Insurance and introduced by Sen. Robert Cortis, R-13 Elyria, will be before the Agriculture, Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

It would exempt drivers from court actions regardless of who is at fault. The insurance companies would be forced to pick up the tab of damages by the motorists they covered.

Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-2 Findlay, the committee chairman, said he feels it should be amended to permit court action in cases where they are injuries or damages run extremely high.

The Finance Committee Wednesday at 2 p.m. will begin hearings on confirmation of David Hill, Gilligan's appointee to the Ohio Board of Regents.

It will make the first time in Ohio history that a governor's choice for a position has had to go through hearings.

In the past, the legislature has often confirmed cabinet positions by taking no action. Under law, the appointments become automatic if nothing is done and the legislature adjourns.

The Judiciary Committee is scheduled to hold its second hearing on the controversial criminal code revision bill that passed the House last month. It will meet Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

The bill, which updates

Ohio's ancient criminal code, would eliminate from the criminal law such former crimes as homosexuality, fornication and adultery between consenting adults in private.

The Education and Health Committee, scheduled to meet Wednesday at 10 a.m., will take up a bill that would set up a statewide network of drug treatment centers.

Local NFO Names Milk Committee

At a meeting held recently of the Pickaway County National farmers Organization, five men were elected to the Milk Bargaining Committee.

They are: Ed Conrad, Dale Gifford, Hoyt Martin, Bill Davis and Bob Barnes. Bill Caudill and Lawrence Carter were elected alternates.

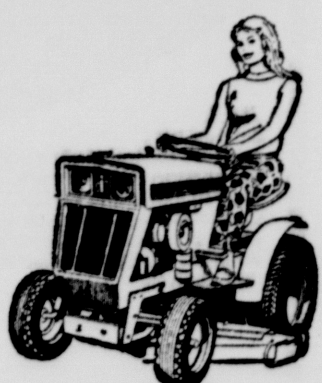

Special guest at the meeting was Urban Schnipke, Area Grain Representative of NFO. He reported that the NFO is selling 200,000 bushels of grain daily. He stressed the importance to get all beans blocked now so that export sales can be arranged and the price to the farmer can be kept up for future delivery.

Other reports given indicated that price paid to NFO producers of milk was up 14 cents during March. Also, Joe Carle announced that the NFO has extended the Floor Price Program on hogs for 120 days.

He stated, "We have proved the packer would honor floor price agreement and so paid when the market dropped below the floor price." He went on to say that NFO needs more hog producers working and moving together to continue expanding the hog program.

In addition, he noted that the NFO has a favorable formula on cattle sold on rail — over 3 1/2 cents over sheet price on choice steers. The next meeting of the NFO will be held May 16 at 8 p.m. at the Five Points Church social rooms.

Ohio Workers Unexcited Over Demo Primary

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's blue collar worker apparently is not enthusiastic about any of the Democratic candidates running in the May 2 presidential primary, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said in a survey published this morning.

"From the picket lines in Cincinnati to the steel mills in Youngstown, to the assembly lines in Toledo and Cleveland, the message is plain: The labor machine will not decide this primary," the newspaper said.

In a survey story in Sunday's editions, the Plain Dealer said the state is "ripe for an upset victory by U.S. Sen. George S. McGovern," D-S.D., in the primary.

The newspaper's conclusions were based on interviews with 200 campaign workers, politicians and voters by two reporters on a week-long, 700-mile swing through Ohio.

The Plain Dealer writers said there is "much indecision" with a high percentage of undecided voters "running to 50 per cent in heavily Democratic areas, including Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati, Toledo and Youngstown, according to polls."

McGovern, U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and U.S. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the three front runners in the campaign, have failed to light "a fire under Democratic voters," the newspaper said.

However, the survey sees Humphrey doing the best of all the candidates in cornering the state's labor vote.

"The one candidate who excites the laboring masses is not on the ballot," the survey story said. "He is George C. Wallace," Alabama governor, who has shown well in the primaries in his switch from the American Independent Party to the Democrats.

"Labor leaders, wanting desperately to defeat President Nixon, but not wanting to offend members who support Wallace, are not pushing hard for any one candidate in the crowded primary," the Plain Dealer said.

"U.S. Sen. Henry 'Scoop' Jackson, D-Washington, however, is on the ballot and the newspaper survey said his

Low Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Cooler, damp weather is forecast for the Buckeye State.

Light rain fell on much of Ohio overnight as a cold front moved south across the state, while a weak low brought showers to northern counties.

A chance of showers continued today and tonight as temperatures fall. Highs were expected to range from the upper 40s to around 60 today, but lows tonight will dip to the 30s.

Snow flurries could fall with the showers in the northern part of the state tonight.

Cloudiness will continue in the north, giving way to partly-cloudy skies in the south Tuesday. Highs will range from the upper 30s north to around 50 in the south.

Temperatures at dawn today ranged from 38 at Toledo to 47 at Cincinnati's Lunken Airport.

Scattered Rain Plagues Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Although most of the nation lay under clear skies today, clouds and scattered rain trailed out from the lower Great Lakes to the middle Atlantic Coast and the Northeast.

Some showers were also reported in the Northwest and in Northern Florida.

Cold air pushing down into the northern Plains was expected to spread freezing temperatures from the Great Lakes to the Central Rockies.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 26 degrees at Rapid City, S.D., to 79 degrees at Key West, Fla.

MOTHER'S DAY IS MAY 14

Says John A. Weithe, Democratic chairman in Hamilton County, "The labor leaders seem to be saying, 'We would be satisfied with Humphrey, Muskie, McGovern or Jackson. You pick him, we'll support him.' They have a $15 million national treasury and they want to knock Nixon off."

Many Democratic and Republican county chairmen around the state are saying the race for Ohio's 153 Democratic delegates is "a tossup between Muskie and Humphrey," the Plain Dealer said.

"But they quickly add McGovern could lead the field in the volatile campaign that will enter the final stage this Wednesday after primary ballots are counted in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts."

The McGovern campaign is well organized and "plans the most expensive TV package" of advertising in the closing days of the campaign, the survey said. While Muskie has the backing of Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan, "it is the first major test of the Gilligan political machine, and early signs are not promising," the Plain Dealer said.

Humphrey's campaign was called "top-heavy with professional field operatives running the show in big cities and often ignoring local advice."

"Over-all, most Democrats felt the only man who could beat Nixon in November is Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who is not a candidate," the newspaper said.

Ohio Workers Unexcited Over Demo Primary

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's blue collar worker apparently is not enthusiastic about any of the Democratic candidates running in the May 2 presidential primary, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said in a survey published this morning.

"From the picket lines in Cincinnati to the steel mills in Youngstown, to the assembly lines in Toledo and Cleveland, the message is plain: The labor machine will not decide this primary," the newspaper said.

In a survey story in Sunday's editions, the Plain Dealer said the state is "ripe for an upset victory by U.S. Sen. George S. McGovern," D-S.D., in the primary.

The newspaper's conclusions were based on interviews with 200 campaign workers, politicians and voters by two reporters on a week-long, 700-mile swing through Ohio.

The Plain Dealer writers said there is "much indecision" with a high percentage of undecided voters "running to 50 per cent in heavily Democratic areas, including Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati, Toledo and Youngstown, according to polls."

McGovern, U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and U. S. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the three front runners in the campaign, have failed to light "a fire under Democratic voters," the newspaper said.

However, the survey sees Humphrey doing the best of all the candidates in cornering the state's labor vote.

"The one candidate who excites the laboring masses is not on the ballot," the survey story said. "He is George C. Wallace," Alabama governor, who has shown well in the primaries in his switch from the American Independent Party to the Democrats.

"Labor leaders, wanting desperately to defeat President Nixon, but not wanting to offend members who support Wallace, are not pushing hard for any one candidate in the crowded primary," the Plain Dealer said.

"U.S. Sen. Henry 'Scoop' Jackson, D-Washington, however, is on the ballot and the newspaper survey said his

"conservative approach most closely parallels Wallace's."

The newspaper quoted Victory T. Keaton, 44, a factory worker in the Columbus suburb of Grove City as saying, "I'll vote for Jackson, but only because Wallace is not on the ballot...Wallace is my man if he runs for President."

Jackson, however, claims to be the party's middle-of-the-road candidate.

Muskie's crying spell after the New Hampshire primary has "washed away" votes among the laboring class," the Plain Dealer said, and quoted Cleveland steelworker Robert J. Litter, 43, as saying: "He has a tendency to lose control of himself...What would he do in a real crisis?"

Many Democratic and Republican county chairmen around the state are saying the race for Ohio's 153 Democratic delegates is "a tossup between Muskie and Humphrey," the Plain Dealer said.

"But they quickly add McGovern could lead the field in the volatile campaign that will enter the final stage this Wednesday after primary ballots are counted in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts."

The McGovern campaign is well organized and "plans the most expensive TV package" of advertising in the closing days of the campaign, the survey said. While Muskie has the backing of Ohio Gov. John J.

Says John A. Weithe, Democratic chairman in Hamilton County, "The labor leaders seem to be saying, 'We would be satisfied with Humphrey, Muskie, McGovern or Jackson. You pick him, we'll support him.' They have a $15 million national treasury and they want to knock Nixon off."

Gilligan, "it is the first major test of the Gilligan political machine, and early signs are not promising," the Plain Dealer said.

Humphrey's campaign was called "top-heavy with professional field operatives running the show in big cities and often ignoring local advice."

"Over-all, most Democrats felt the only man who could beat Nixon in November is Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who is not a candidate," the newspaper said.

Lakers Top Bucks, Win West Playoff

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks' National Basketball Association championship reign is over, but they aren't quite ready to concede they lost to a better team.

The Los Angeles Lakers may well have been the hungrier team, Bucks' guard Jon McGlocklin admitted. And no one could be craving the championship more than the Lakers' Jerry West, who never has savored one in his brilliant 12-year career.

West had missed all seven of his shots in the third quarter Saturday. But he came back to score 12 points in the last 5½ minutes of the fourth period as the Lakers overcame a 10-point deficit and beat the Bucks 101-100 to clinch the Western Conference playoffs in six games.

The Lakers, who defeated Milwaukee eight times in 11 meetings this season, will meet the New York Knicks in the playoff finals starting Wednesday at Los Angeles.

"This time of year, all teams are great and the team that is hungriest is going to win," McGlocklin said. "I felt all along last year that we would win."

"I think the ability's here, but there was a completely different feeling to me as a player this year," he said.

Milwaukee beat Los Angeles in almost every category—except in victories.

IN A JAM — Milwaukee Bucks' Kareem Jabbar is put under pressure by Los Angeles Laker's Wilt Chamberlain (13) and Jim McMillian during their NBA playoff game at Milwaukee.

Petty Wins Gwyn Staley 400 Race

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — For Richard Petty, king of the South's stock racing ovals, winning is becoming harder as the years go by.

"That was one of the toughest races I've ever won," he said Sunday after wheeling his STP-sponsored Plymouth to a narrow victory over Chevrolet's Bobby Allison in the Gwyn Staley 400.

It was the 143rd triumph of a career that has seen him take back to his Randleman, N.C., bank more than $1.2 million in prize money.

It also was the third win in nine starts this year and his eighth in 10 years at North Wilkesboro Speedway, a five-eighths of a mile oval that was jammed with a record 16,000 spectators Sunday.

"I got the breaks down the stretch," the 34-year-old second-generation driver said. "But for most of the race I just sat back and watched that dog fight between Allison and Bobby Isaac."

ALL ALONE — Tom Sykes, Logan Elm High School 2-miler, handily won the event Saturday at the Amanda-Clearcreek Invitational Track Meet. He paced the distance in 10:32.8, easily outdistancing his nearest rival.

Knicks Capture NBA East Over Boston Celtics

BOSTON (AP) — "We didn't panic," explained New York Knicks forward Dave DeBusschere, "and that was the ball game."

Not only was it the ball game, but it was also the series.

The Knicks moved into the finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs Sunday after overcoming a 14-0 deficit and defeating the Boston Celtics 111-103, taking the Eastern Conference championship 4-1.

The Knicks will open the best-of-seven title series in Los Angeles Wednesday against the Western Conference champion Lakers.

"We had patience," said DeBusschere, who led the balanced New York attack with 24 points while grabbing 11 rebounds. "A lesser team at that point might have panicked. We pecked away, came back, and before you knew it we were within four or five points. Once we get there, we're back in the game."

The Celtics roared off to a 14-0 lead with 3:34 gone and looked like they were about to run the Knicks out of Boston Garden. New York did not get on the scoreboard until 3:45 when Bill Bradley scored on a lay-up. The Knicks fought back, however, thanks mostly to eight points by Jerry Lucas, and trailed only 27-23 at the end of the quarter.

Houston Astros Blast Giants For 13-7 Win

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I'll take a four-run lead entering the ninth inning anytime," San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox said.

The Giants had it Sunday—a 7-3 edge over Houston with three outs to go. But they couldn't get those final three before the Astros got 10 runs.

"I'm not surprised by all the runs Houston is scoring," Fox said after the Astros' 13-7 triumph. "They're the most improved club in the league...We scored seven runs so it's up to our pitchers to hold 'em."

In Sunday's other National League action, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 8-2 and 7-6 in 12 innings; St. Louis handed Montreal its first defeat 6-1; San Diego edged Los Angeles 2-1, and, in a pair of 11-inning games, Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 5-4 and Atlanta overhauled Cincinnati 4-3.

Lee May highlighted the Astros' rally with a three-run homer that put Houston ahead 8-7. "That's more hits than I get in a week," he said of the eight-hit, ninth-inning against three San Francisco hurlers.

Successive home runs in the fifth inning by Cleon Jones and Jim Fregosi carried the Mets to their opening-game triumph, and Jim Beauchamp's pinch single drove in the winning run

Beats Nicklaus In Playoff

Bobby Mitchell Captures Tournament Of Champions

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — "The invisible man came through," chortled Bobby Mitchell.

The obscure Mitchell, who had complained earlier in the week that sports writers "seem to think I'm invisible—nobody ever writes about me," had just beaten pro golf's most feared competitor in a sudden-death playoff for the title in the prestigious Tournament of Champions.

The 29-year-old Mitchell rolled in a 20-foot putt on the first extra hole Sunday and beat heavily favored Jack Nicklaus for only his second victory in a pro career that dates back to the time he was a youth of 15 in Danville, Va.

"It's a great feeling," exclaimed Mitchell, who collected $33,000 from the total purse of $165,000. "It was a wonderful feeling when I won at Cleveland last year (his first tour triumph). But this was even better because I beat all the champs."

The Tournament of Champions is restricted to players who scored regular pro tour victories in the last 12 months. The awesome Nicklaus, who took the Masters and two other titles already this season, was a 4-1 favorite to successfully defend his title here.

But the odds went for nothing when Nicklaus pulled his tee shot on the par three 14th—the first playoff hole—into the deep rough and chipped six feet past.

Mitchell put his tee shot in the green below the pin and made the putt.

"I didn't really expect to make it," he admitted. "I was just trying to get it close."

Mitchell shot a final round 70 on the long, tough La Costa Country Club course and tied Nicklaus with a 72 hole total of 280.

NEW YORK (AP) — Darkness had settled in, the bright archlights offering little Garo Yepremian the benefit of the artificial spotlight as he trotted in to attempt the 37-yard field goal that could decide the tense playoff struggle between Miami and Kansas City.

The ball was snapped, Karl Noonan spotted it, Yepremian kicked it—and the Dolphins had beaten the Chiefs 27-24 after 22 minutes and 40 seconds of sudden death overtime in the longest game in pro football history.

It may never happen again, but all the elements will be present Sunday, Sept. 17 when the Dolphins and Chiefs meet in a rematch at Kansas City in

Tribe Takes 2 Games From Orioles

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Remember the Mets? From laughing stock of pro baseball to champions...

Cleveland Indians manager Ken Aspromonte was thinking about the Mets after the Indians won their second straight game Sunday from the American League champion Baltimore Orioles.

"I'm not saying that's going to happen to us," Aspromonte mused, referring to the sudden rise of the Mets, but he left no doubt it could happen.

The 1971 Indians tied a club record for most games lost in a season. But the rookie manager sees a different club this year.

"There's no telling how far our club can go. I've tried to impress this on the players. There is an awful lot of talent here."

"This has been a big series for us," he added. "Getting off to a good start means a lot. Here we've been playing teams such as Boston and Baltimore and still we're a game above .500."

"It's great isn't it?"

The Indians beat Baltimore 9-2 Saturday, when Buddy Bell hit a grand slam home run for his first major league homer. Gaylord Perry was the hero of Sunday's 2-1 victory, holding the Orioles on seven scattered hits and igniting the third-inning rally that gave the Indians their runs.

Twins Turn Back Kansas City, 8-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The modern day version of Darwin's theory of evolution is happening in St. Paul-Minneapolis. Bobby Darwin has evolved from a pitcher to a hitter.

"You can't make a mistake on him, he's just too strong," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams after Darwin burned the A's with two-run homer in Minnesota's 8-4 victory Sunday.

From hitting batters in the minor leagues, the Twins' 29-year-old rookie sensation has gone to hitting pitchers. He's had four home runs in five games this season.

Before his turnabout, Darwin worked on the mound for eight years in the farm systems of the California Angels, Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Dodgers. He switched to the outfield in 1970 and realized his hitting potential right away, striking 40 home runs in two seasons of minor league ball in the Dodger's chain. He also hit one homer in 20 at-bats as a major leaguer.

The swinging outfielder caught the attention of Minnesota scouts and the Twins obtained Darwin on Oct. 22, 1971 in a trade for outfielder Paul Ray Powell.

In other American League

games Sunday, the Texas Rangers defeated California 5-2; the Chicago White Sox nipped the Kansas City Royals 3-2; the Cleveland Indians downed the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Detroit Tigers 3-0. The New York Yankees' game at Boston was rained out.

Darwin's blast in the second inning wiped out a 1-0 Oakland edge and started the Twins on their way. The outfielder later got another hit to give him nine in 18 at-bats. He's knocked in 10 runs.

Veteran Don Mincher blasted a three-run homer in the first inning and Horacio Pina pitched three hit shutout relief for six innings as Texas beat California for the third straight time.

Dick Allen knocked in two early runs with a home run and triple, then scored the game-winning on an infield error in the eighth as Chicago beat Kansas City.

Gaylord Perry scattered seven hits and cracked a double to ignite a third-inning rally that carried Cleveland past Baltimore.

George Scott's two-run double and a solo shot by Billy Conigliaro carried Milwaukee past Detroit. Jim Slaton pitched the first five innings for the Brewers and got credit for the victory.

Lakers Top Bucks, Win West Playoff

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks' National Basketball Association championship reign is over, but they aren't quite ready to concede they lost to a better team.

The Los Angeles Lakers may well have been the hungrier team, Bucks' guard Jon McGlocklin admitted. And no one could be craving the championship more than the Lakers' Jerry West, who never has savored one in his brilliant 12-year career.

West had missed all seven of his shots in the third quarter Saturday. But he came back to score 12 points in the last 5½ minutes of the fourth period as the Lakers overcame a 10-point deficit and beat the Bucks 101-100 to clinch the Western Conference playoffs in six games.

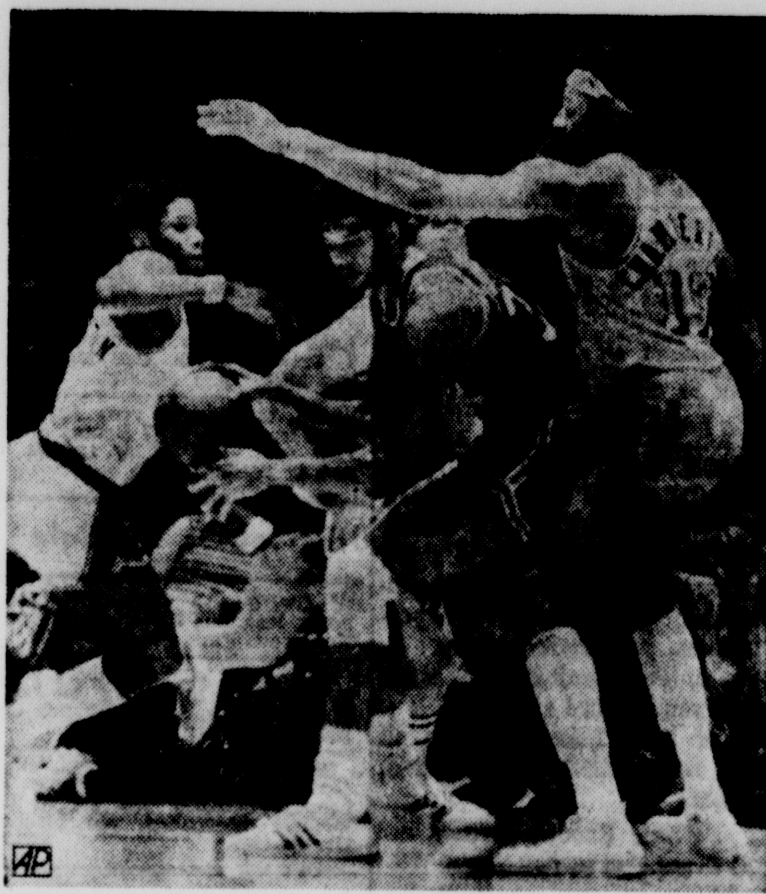

The Lakers, who defeated Milwaukee eight times in 11 meetings this season, will meet the New York Knicks in the playoff finals starting Wednesday at Los Angeles.

"This time of year, all teams are great and the team that is hungriest is going to win," McGlocklin said. "I felt all along last year that we would win."

"I think the ability's here, but there was a completely different feeling to me as a player this year," he said.

Milwaukee beat Los Angeles in almost every category—except in victories.

Petty Wins Gwyn Staley 400 Race

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — For Richard Petty, king of the South's stock racing ovals, winning is becoming harder as the years go by.

"That was one of the toughest races I've ever won," he said Sunday after wheeling his STP-sponsored Plymouth to a narrow victory over Chevrolet's Bobby Allison in the Gwyn Staley 400.

It was the 143rd triumph of a career that has seen him take back to his Randleman, N.C., bank more than $1.2 million in prize money.

It also was the third win in nine starts this year and his eighth in 10 years at North Wilkesboro Speedway, a five-eighths of a mile oval that was jammed with a record 16,000 spectators Sunday.

"I got the breaks down the stretch," the 34-year-old second-generation driver said. "But for most of the race I just sat back and watched that dog fight between Allison and Bobby Isaac."

ALL ALONE — Tom Sykes, Logan Elm High School 2-miler, handily won the event Saturday at the Amanda-Clearcreek Invitational Track Meet. He paced the distance in 10:32.8, easily outdistancing his nearest rival.

Knicks Capture NBA East Over Boston Celtics

BOSTON (AP) — "We didn't panic," explained New York Knick forward Dave DeBusschere, "and that was the ball game."

Not only was it the ball game, but it was also the series.

The Knicks moved into the finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs Sunday after overcoming a 14-0 deficit and defeating the Boston Celtics 111-103, taking the Eastern Conference championship 4-1.

The Knicks will open the best-of-seven title series in Los Angeles Wednesday against the Western Conference champion Lakers.

"We had patience," said DeBusschere, who led the balanced New York attack with 24 points while grabbing 11 rebounds. "A lesser team at that point might have panicked. We pecked away, came back, and before you knew it we were within four or five points. Once we get there, we're back in the game."

The Celtics roared off to a 14-0 lead with 3:34 gone and looked like they were about to run the Knicks out of Boston Garden. New York did not get on the scoreboard until 3:45 when Bill Bradley scored on a lay-up. The Knicks fought back, however, thanks mostly to eight points by Jerry Lucas, and trailed only 27-23 at the end of the quarter.

Dick Allen knocked in two early runs with a home run and triple, then scored the game-winning run on an infield error in the eighth as Chicago beat Kansas City.

Gaylord Perry scattered seven hits and cracked a double to ignite a third-inning rally that carried Cleveland past Baltimore.

George Scott's two-run double and a solo shot by Billy Conigliaro carried Milwaukee past Detroit. Jim Slaton pitched the first five innings for the Brewers and got credit for the victory.

games Sunday, the Texas Rangers defeated California 5-2; the Chicago White Sox nipped the Kansas City Royals 3-2; the Cleveland Indians downed the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Detroit Tigers 3-0. The New York Yankees' game at Boston was rained out.

Darwin's blast in the second inning wiped out a 1-0 Oakland edge and started the Twins on their way. The outfielder later got another hit to give him nine in 18 at-bats. He's knocked in 10 runs.

Veteran Don Mincher blasted a three-run homer in the first inning and Horacio Pina pitched three hit shutout relief.

Before his turnabout, Darwin worked on the mound for eight years in the farm systems of the California Angels, Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Dodgers. He switched to the outfield in 1970 and realized his hitting potential right away, striking 40 home runs in two seasons of minor league ball in the Dodger's chain. He also hit one homer in 20 at-bats as a major leaguer.

The swinging outfielder caught the attention of Minnesota scouts and the Twins obtained Darwin on Oct. 22, 1971, in a trade for outfielder Paul Ray Powell.

Twins Turn Back Kansas City, 8-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The modern day version of Darwin's theory of evolution is happening in St. Paul-Minneapolis. Bobby Darwin has evolved from a pitcher to a hitter.

"You can't make a mistake on him, he's just too strong," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams after Darwin burned the A's with two-run homer in Minnesota's 8-4 victory Sunday.

From hitting batters in the minor leagues, the Twins' 29-year-old rookie sensation has gone to hitting pitchers. He's had four home runs in five games this season.

Pair Foils Suicide Try

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two passersby pulled a 29-year-old woman from the flood-swollen Scioto River Sunday after she jumped from a 30-foot retaining wall and was swept 200 feet downstream.

The woman, who struck a ledge on the wall near O'Shaughnessy Dam as she fell, is in satisfactory condition in Riverside Hospital.

She was pulled from the current by David Pohl, 34, and William Tuck, 25, a college student. Pohl was on a picture-taking expedition when he saw the woman jump.

Marine-Parks Police Chief George Tokar said the woman, an epileptic, left home after a family argument over her refusal to take medicine. He said it was an apparent suicide attempt.

Philadelphia Police Work To Stop Graffiti Artists

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Six-year-old Eileen McGuire got spanked recently when she scribbled over a neighbor's porch with crayon. And her angry parents made her scrub it clean with soap and water.

Eileen's dad is Anthony McGuire, a Philadelphia police sergeant who heads a special intelligence squad created nine months ago to catch those kids who make the city dirty with graffiti—scribbles and doodles—on thousands of walls and vehicles.

McGuire's squad has arrested 388 on vandalism charges. Only eight have been over 18, and six of them were girls.

"I think we've made an impact," says McGuire. "I've noticed that some of the buildings that used to be covered with graffiti have been cleaned and have remained clean for a longer period of time than they have ever been before."

Most of the arrests are in the daytime, along busy streets near schools where the writings are seen—but they don't come easy.

"Did you ever see a kid paint with a spray can, or with a marking pen?" McGuire asks.

"That's why I'm amazed how successful my men are. The kids have lookouts, and they are fast as hell. I've had officers injured chasing them."

Those under 18 are turned over to juvenile officers. Parents are not fined, but efforts are made to get them to pay for removing the paint.

It is estimated it costs more than $5 million a year to clean up the buildings and the vehicles, a problem that has become critical in the last decade here and in other big cities across the nation.

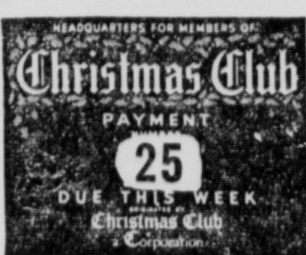

Mayor Frank L. Rizzo, a former police commissioner known nationally as a strict law and order man, wants a tougher approach to clean up the mess.

"A stern lecture doesn't mean a thing to these kids," Rizzo says.

Among those who disagree with Rizzo is Sandy Rubin, who heads Graffiti Alternatives Workshop (GAW), a foundation-funded project aimed at steering graffiti writers into art related activities.

"To put a boy in prison for an offense like this, is putting him in a place where he'll learn a worse offense," she says. "The city must get to the people and the parents. That's the only way it will stop."

Questions Taxpayers Ask

Q — The person I paid to fill out my tax return has not signed it. Should I make sure that he does?

A — Yes. Anyone who prepares your return for compensation is required to sign your Form 1040 in the space provided at the bottom of the form. Spaces are also provided for the preparer's address and the date he signs the return.

Q — I am supposed to receive a bonus from my company for making the most sales last year. Do I have to pay tax on the bonus the year I earned it or the year it's actually paid me?

A — The bonus or award is taxable to you when paid or made available to you.

Q — Instead of taking the standard deduction as I did on last year's return, I decided to itemize this year and saved some money. I now think I could have saved by itemizing on my 1970 return. Can I go back and file again for that year?

A — Yes. This is done by preparing a Form 1040X. On this form, you simply recompute the portion that has changed from your original return and send it, along with any necessary related information, to the address shown in the instructions for that form. Forms 1040X can be obtained from any IRS office.

In general, your amended return claiming a refund must be filed within 3 years from the date your original return was filed or 2 years from the date you paid the tax, whichever is later. For this purpose, a return filed early is considered to have been filed on the due date.

Q — Does the Internal Revenue Service pay interest to the taxpayer when it is late in issuing a refund?

A — Yes. However, the IRS has 45 days from the due date on the return or the date of filing, whichever is later, to issue a refund without payment of interest. If it takes longer than that, interest at an annual rate of 6 per cent from the due date or the date of filing, whichever is later, is added to the refund.

Q — I drive a 4-cylinder sports car. Can I take the full amount allowed by the state tax tables in my tax form instructions as a gas tax deduction?

A — No. For mileage driven in a 4-cylinder (or less) car, deduct half the table amount. Of course, if you can establish that you paid a larger amount than that shown in the table, you may deduct the larger amount.

Q — Can I deduct the rent I pay on a safe deposit box?

A — Yes. If you itemize, safe deposit box rent is deductible provided the box is used for the storage of taxable income-producing stocks, bonds, etc. The rent is not deductible if the box is used for personal effects or tax-exempt securities.

YOU CAN TELL
AT A GLANCE!

Kroger is placing Unit Pricing on over 3,000 grocery items! This program—in all local Kroger Stores—is to help you shop more economically and satisfactorily.

Look for the Kroger easy-to-read tag on all selected items throughout the store. It will show you how to save money by posting the cost per measure (per ounce, per pound, count, etc.) so that comparison shopping is easy.

AT KROGER, YOU CAN SEE THE SAVINGS!

You are cordially invited to express your opinions about the program to our store managers or co-managers at any time.
